SEVEN WEEKS' SESSION ENDS

No Major Relief Measures Enacted—Pinchot May Call Another Session

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—Pennsylvania's extraordinary legislative session, denounced as "A farce and a failure" by labor leaders and defended as a producer of meritorious unemployment relief legislation by its members, passed into political history shortly after noon today.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30—With the stage set for early adjournment, Pennsylvania's legislators were to quit the capitol finally today bringing to end a seven week's extraordinary session generally conceded to have failed in its purpose to provide substantial relief for the state's more than 950,000 unemployed.

As the session drifted to a finish, the lone developments of interests were reports that the lawmakers will be summoned again to Harrisburg three months hence when renewed efforts will be made to enact relief legislation. No one would vouch for the story officially, through numerous legislators believed that Govenor Gifford Pinchot would send out another call if he can find a sufficient number of leaders who will share the responsibility.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc was over the New Wilmington road last night and saw one of the nicest Christmas lighting effects he has seen this year. The lights are arranged in each window and in long rows in front of the Harper Montgomery home. It is worth a trip out to Walmo just to see this display.

License tags for 1932 must be on autos after midnight, Thursday. There will be no extension for use of the 1931 tags, it is announced.

New Castle kiddies with sleds are sort of getting cheated on their sledding this Christmas vacation. Last year, we had over an inch of snow on December 30th, and the kiddies had a merry time. The snow lasted for several days, too, and added much to the enjoyment of the annual vacation period.

Pacing up and down around North street school was how one little Miss spent this morning. She pushed a baby carriage in which a baby doll reposed.

Someone who drove through seventh ward yesterday suggests that a more powerful light should be placed in the traffic signal at the Liberty and Madison avenue intersection.

Property owners and residents of the city will watch with great interest the negotiations of council and the Pennsylvania Power Company concerning street lighting. It is certainly the concensus of opinion that there shall be no reduction of street lights in the residential sections, especially those a little removed

SOME OF PYMATUNING JOBS FOR LAWRENCE CO.

In response to the request by Fred L. Rentz, representing a group of New Castle and Lawrence county citizens interested, local representatives at Harrisburg, immediately interviewed Governor Pinchot concerning the allotment of available jobs at the Pymatuning dam, and report that Lawrence county will be given its proportionate quota.

Representative Bart Richards and State Senator George T. Weingartner report that they interviewed the governor on the project yesterday and that the arrangements are satisfactory for New Castle and Lawrence county unemployed to get some of the jobs. Details of the arrangement will be given on their arrival here tonight or in the morning.

The conference with the governor was inspired because of the suggestion in a news item recently that the jobs were to be given to Mercer and Crawford county unemployed entirely.

Expect Report Soon By Army Engineers On Local Waterway

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 30.—Recommendations of army engineers as to the improvement of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers may reach Congress within the next month or six weeks or may not be sent to that body until early next spring.

It was said today at the office of General Lytle Brown, Chief of the Army Engineers, that recommendations concerning the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers are still in the hands of the Division Engineer, Colonel George R. Spaulding at St. Louis, Missouri. The district engineer, Major W. D. Styer, located at Pittsburgh, has completed his survey of the rivers and forward his reoprt and recommendations to Col. Spaulding.

Under the regular procedure, Col. Spaulding reviews the findings of the district engineer and then forwards them, with recommendations of his own, to the chief engineer here. The office of the chief engineer said this afternoon that the report on the rivers from Col. Spaulding is expected in the very near future.

Whether any delay will ensue will depend upon the action of the Rivers and Harbors Board of the War Department.

Under federal machinery, reports and recommendations of army engineers must be passed on by the Rivers and Harbors Board before they are forwarded to Congress. If the Board approves the engineers' findings, the recommendations are given Congress without delay. If the board disapproves the findings, then the case is held up and interested parties given an opportunity to appear before the board and petition that body to reverse its decision.

In other words, General Brown, Chief of the Engineers, within the next few days will receive from Col. Spaulding a report as to his ideas and the ideas of the District Engineer as to the improvement of the Second Ranking Member Of State Supreme Court, Expires In His Sleep

WAS VETERAN OF JURIST BENCH

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Justice Emory A. Walling, second ranking member of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, was found dead in bed at his home here today by members of his family.

Death of the eminent jurist, who was 77 years old, came as a shock to relatives and friends. He had been in the best of health, members of his family said, and was in good spirits when he retired last night.

Found By Family.

Members of his family went to Justice Walling's bedroom this morning, when he failed to arise at the usual time, shortly after 8 a. m., and found the jurist dead in bed.

Doctors hastily summoned said he had apparently been dead about eight hours and that death came in his sleep.

Justice Walling had been a member of the high court for fifteen

Three Firemen Now Off Duty In City; Officials Confer

Reeves And Fire Chief Lynn Study Situation—May Add To Force

With three city firemen now off duty due to injuries received by them while in active service Superintendent of Public Safety Reeves and Fire Chief Lynn studied the fire department's problem at a conference today.

The firemen off duty include Fireman Charles S. Mills of Central station who sustained severe back injuries when he was thrown into the air by fire hose while attending a blaze on Spruce street yesterday. He was examined by a physician after the fire and ordered to bed.

Fireman Harry G. Mally of Central station, is in Jameson Memorial hospital, where it was reported today, he is confined with a fracture of the left leg. Mally and Mills were victims of the mishap on Spruce street. Malley was taken to the hospital from the fire.

The third of the injured firemen is Lieut. Earl E. Dart of No. 4 station, who was cut by glass at a fire in the home of John Dado, Cascade street, last week and is still off duty. Fireman Norman McFarland of Central station was sent to No. 4 to fill the vacancy caused by Lieut. Dart's absence. With McFarland off at Central, the fire department's headquarters is now minus three members.

Fire Chief Lynn and Superintendent Reeves did not announce whether they had reached a decision, or whether additional firemen will be hired.

Deadlock Over Appointees Is Giving Concern

County Commissioners-Elect Have Lively Time During Recent Discussions

ARE NOT UNANIMOUS ON SOME POSITIONS

Proposed Creation Of New Job Not Looked Upon With Much Favor

Candidates elected to various county offices in November will be sworn into office at the court house on next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Those who will take the oath of office are William O. Pitts, treasurer, Ralph M. Campbell, prothonotary and Clerk of Courts, R. C. McCaslin, county controller, Orville Potter, Coroner and F. R. Woods, P. O. Elder and Elmer Conner, county commissioners.

The oath of office will be administered to Prothonotary R. M. Campbell by the court. He will in turn swear in the other officials. The oaths require that they support the constitution and administer the duties of their several offices with diligence and fidelity.

Meet to Organize

Immediately after being sworn into office the county commisioners will meet for organization of the board. They will then announce their appointments. At this time some of the appointments are still up in the air, no definite agreements having been reached.

At least two informal meetings of the commissioners elect have been held at which posible appointees were discussed. At the first meeting the name of William A. Eakin, for county commissioners clerk, was proposed by P. O. Elder. F. R. Woods proposed the name of C. C. Harry.

Mrs. Harader To Spend Her Life In Prison Cell

West Virginia Woman Sentenced To Life Imprisonment For "Dream Slaying"

WILL SERVE AT MOUNDSVILLE

(International News Service)

KINGWOOD, W. Va., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Evelyn Harader, "dream slayer" of Cecil F. Michael, young Clifton Mills postmaster and merchant, today prepared to spend the rest of her days in Moundsville penitentiary.

Mrs. Harader was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge A. G. Hughes late yesterday, following denial of a motion for a new trial by counsel for the woman. She was found guilty of first degree murder charges by a jury here Dec. 19.

At the trial, the state brought out that Mrs. Harader arose from bed early in the morning on last July 25, walked to Michael's store and killed him. Following her arrest, Mrs. Harader told authorities she "dreamed" she had shot Michael and was "only carrying out the dream" because "he said things about me."

Fireman Mally Will Be Invalid For Some Time; Leg Fractured

Harry G. Mally, of 102 West Leasure avenue, a member of the New Castle Fire Department, central station, who received a fractured left leg while at a fire Tuesday, is getting along quite well today in the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Firemen Mally and Charles S. Mills were both injured when they were thrown into the air by a jerk of the fire hose on which they were standing, while preparing to attach the hose to a fire hydrant at Pine and Chestnut streets. Mills was not seriously hurt.

Examination at the hospital has shown that the fractured leg is the extent of Mr. Mally's injuries.

Political Bombshell Explodes In Metropolis—Must Explain Bank Accounts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—A political bombshell, explosion of which may have far-flung consequences, was detonated today by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee investigating the city.

He sent charges against Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, a Tammany leader, and four of his assistants, to Governor Roosevelt today by special messenger.

Sheriff On Carpet.

Seabury also sent a transcript of the testimony given by Farley and the four others before the committee.

Those besides Farley against whom Seabury filed accusations are: Under Sheriff Peter J. Curran; James F. McNulty, secretary to the sheriff; Deputy Sheriff Jacob Rosenberg and Deputy Sheriff Joseph Flaherty.

The specifications against the officials include references to unexplained large bank accounts, gambling activities, and speakeasy operations.

Civic organization leaders indicated when the text of the charges had been made public, they would decide whether to ask Governor Roosevelt to oust the five men from their offices.

LONDON, Dec. 30—The European conference on war debts and reparations will convene January 20 at Lausanne, Switzerland, it was officially announced today.

The conference first had been set tentatively for January 18 at the Hague.

U. S. Is Out

The conference, recommended by the Young plan advisory committee recently after its failure to come to definite conclusions on Germany's capacity to pay, will tackle much the same problems as those studied by the Young committee.

France and Great Britain are expected to hold informal preliminary conferences at which they will draw up a united stand for their dealings with Germany, largest debtor, and the United States, largest creditor.

The United States will not be represented at the conference.

Measuring Sticks Used By Teachers Strongly Opposed

Author Of Books Dealing With Youth, Addresses State Educators

Dr. James N. Rule, Tells Educators That Special Fund Has Been Set Up

By JOHN J. VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30. — Sharp attack on the "measuring stick" by which school children are classified was loosed by Hughes Mearns, author of books dealing with youth and its problems, before the 82nd annual conference of the Pennsylvania Education Association here today.

Decrying the methods of instructors who insist on "pigeon-holing" pupils, Mearns told the 4000 delegates to the educational parley:

"There's something wrong someplace."

"A lad in the eighth grade is labelled 'weak.'" Mearns continued, "but 20 years later he becomes one of the strong executives of the country. A 'slow' boy turns out to be one of the fastest of professional baseball players. A girl scolded for 'bad' art later gains an international reputation as a painter.

"A professor will give a lad no credit for a course in gas engines but he later turns out to be Charles Lindbergh. Edison is sent home from school with the suggestion he is not intelligent enough to do the work."

Special Fund

Delegates turned their attention to school finances also today when Dr. James N. Rule, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, told them 100 rural school districts had been unable to pay teachers during December and that the state has set up a special $3,500,000 fund to keep financially-stressed schools open during the present emergency.

Ordinarily, Dr. Rule told the conference, $1,250,000 is set aside as an emergency school fund, but this year

EASTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Edward W. Werkheiser, 32-year old federal employe of the Easton postoffice, critically injured today while opening a bomb placed in the mails, died shortly before noon today.

EASTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Two postal employes were probably fatally hurt and three others seriously injured today when a bomb in a package which was being examined in the postoffice here exploded with a terrific detonation that wrecked an entire section of the building.

Edward Werkheiser, 32, and John House, 49, were the most seriously injured. Their arms were blown off by the explosion and their bodies badly mangled.

Five Are Injured

Werkheiser had attempted to open one of the six small packages left for mailing to New York a few minutes before.

The other three injured employes were: Arlington Abert, John Keller and D. W. Garis, all of Easton, suffering shock and lacerations.

Physicians said it was doubtful whether Werkheiser could survive

Mrs. Hoover Is Giving Dance At Capital Tonight

Allan Hoover, Young Bachelor Son, Is To Be Honored At Dance

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Crowning Washington's busy holiday social season, Mrs. Hoover tonight will entertain about two hundred of the younger official set at a White House dance in honor of her bachelor son, Allan.

The fact that the usually top-heavy calendar of festivities for the Christmas season is barren of any other outstanding event tonight will save a number of the blue bloods from a junior league considerable embarrassment.

Last year, Mrs. Hoover decided at the last moment to give a similar party. On the same evening, one of the city's most foremost debutantes also was hostess at a huge hotel ball, invitations for which, in due course, had gone out weeks in advance.

Davis To Direct.

The distracted young people who had received bids to both affairs finally worked matters out by looking in early at the debutante's ball, hurring to the White House and remaining until Allan Hoover's dance to an early close and then returning to the first affair to remain until the small hours of the morning.

Tonight's dance will be the last of the holiday festivities at the White House, except, of course, for the annual New Year's day reception

Meyer Davis, the millionaire musical director who has orchestras in dozens of the exclusive gathering places for society from Maine to Florida, will be present to direct in person. In addition, he has written a special Fox Trot, dedicated to Allan Hoover, for the occasion.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Reports from Europe of the forming of an Anglo-French bloc to insist upon American revision of the war debts was met today by Senator Johnson (R) of California, leader of the anti-moratorium group, with a blunt challenge that the people of the United States were opposed to further debt concessions.

"The American people are 100 to 1 against debt reduction or cancellation," Johnson asserted, "and the gentlemen who were for the moratorium are just finding that out. "However unpalatable it may be, Europe must learn the same thing."

SPECIAL SESSION COMES TO CLOSE IN CAPITAL TODAY

Clure measures providing for the election of a new tuberculosis hospital remained to be acted upon finally in the house, while the Senate had prepared for passing four bills to aid the property owner who is unable to pay his taxes promptly.

Among these measures in the senior branch one would postpone sheriff's sales for a year for tax delinquencies. It is sponsored by Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington county, and is similar to the bill of Senator Bertram G. Frazier, Philadelphia, which was vetoed last week.

Most of the business of the House was ended late yesterday and members were treated to one of the smoothest bits of bill-killing witnessed in recent years, when the Clark bill one of the measures which it was agreed should be passed before final adjournment, was passed on second reading early in the day. The measure provided that the state should take over and maintain the Embreeville Hospital for the insane in Chester county.

Representatives Sowers, Philadelphia, moved the vote by which it was passed on second reading be reconsidered so that the bill could be amended so as to include the Byberry hospital in Philadelphia.

Measure Will Die

Unwittingly the House agreed to the various amendments and the bill was released on second reading and prepared for final passage today. Sowers then moved that the bill be sent to the House appropriations committee for study. The motion was carried.

The measure will die in committee when the gavel drops ending the session today.

Another futile effort to get the Spangler resolution providing for salary cuts on Capitol Hill adopted by the legislature failed dismally.

When the House quits today it will leave on the statute books one act providing direct relief for the unemployed. That measure, sponsored by Rep. Talbot, Delaware, and appropriating $10,000,000 to political subdivisions of the commonwealth charged with poor relief, has been declared unconstitutional by Attorney General Schnader and Governor Pinchot refused to sign or veto it, being content in allowing it to become a law by failing to act on its within ten days. A court test will tie up the appropriation until a decision is reached.

Willis A. Sutton, retiring President of the National Educational Association, urged education as a cure for the depression.

"The cultural level of the masses is the barometer of business there are 35,000,000 people in the United States who are 'sixth graders' and under. Go out and see that everyone is educated and you will see the barometer of business rise." he said.

Health Weakened

A warning that the depression was affecting the health of the people was issued by Mrs. Helen G. Tyson, of the State Department of Welfare. But in contrast came the statement of Dr. L. M. Smith, Pittsburgh public health official who predicted future generations will show a marked decrease in the serious ailments of the past few years.

Twenty five sectional meetings were held throughout the city today while interest centered on announcement of election of officers which will be made late today. Dr. John C. Diehl of Erie, and Dr. F. B. Haas, of Bloomsburg are the nominees for president.

The scout planes which hurried here from Bolling field, Wash., to aid in the search, will be held at Hot Springs in readiness to take the air if weather clears, it was announced today. Meantime, augmented search groups under the lead of Moore and Phillips started out this morning to work over the isolated hill section southeast of here with hope of finding Bobbitt growing ever fainter.

Connor went in with Elder which gave Eakin a majority for the office of county commissioner's clerk.

For jail physician F. R. Woods proposed the name of Dr. E. H. Wilmarth, Elder proposed Dr. F. E. Eakin, the present incumbent and Conner proposed the name of Dr. H. E. Zerner. After some discussion Conner finally agreed with Woods for Dr. Wilmarth. At a subsequent meeting Conner is said to have changed his mind regarding Dr. Wilmarth, proposing the name of Dr. W. D. Cleland.

Heated Discussion

This brought on a violet discussion during which Connor was accused of having agreed to Dr. Wilmarth. Some hot words were applied during the discussion with the result that no definite agreement was reached regarding a jail physician.

For county solicitor all three commissioners were in agreement on Attorney John P. Lockhart, the present incumbent. There was also a unanimous agreement on T. A. Gilkey for county engineer. Mr. Gilkey is the present county engineer. There was some outside talk that the name of another engineer would be proposed, but this was not done.

For the office of poor director all were agreed on M. B. Hogue, the present incumbent.

For the office of sealer of weights and measures P. O. Elder proposed the name of W. A. Brown, the present incumbent. Woods the name of Reed English and Conner, the name of L. W. Houk, said to be a relative. As there was considerable difference of opinion Elder suggested that the matter be laid over until another meeting. At a second meeting it is claimed that Elder was disposed to go with Conner for Houk.

May Be Two Sealers

Whether mayor-elect of New Castle, Charles B. Mayne and city council, would go in with the county on Houk was still an open question when the conference adjourned. Subsequent development seem to indicate that the city is not likely to go in with the county on the appointment, and that there may be two sealers of weights and measures, one for the county and one for the city.

Proposition to appoint an assistant to Poor Director M. B. Hogue brought forth a bitted discussion, verging almost on a quarrel, at the last conference of the commissioners-elect, it is said. Conner, it seemed, was accused of having informally promised the position to two persons, Connie Wardman and F. S. Blackburn, of Ellwood City. This was strongly denied by Conner. Woods suggested that he and Elder put candidates in the field, but none was offered at this meeting.

Opinions Differ

There is some difference of opinion as to whether or not this job ought to be created. It is claimed that under present circumstances there is no reason for increasing expenses of the taxpayers for an additional man who is not needed, provided the county commissioners do some work themselves.

The argument advanced is that the prothonotary, sheriff, treasurer and register and recorder all do work themselves and do not try to delegate it all to subordinates.

It is realized that with the number of applicants now receiving aid from the county it is impossible for Poor Director Hogue to leave the office to make all the necessary outside investigations. However, there are three county commissioners who have time at their disposal.

Heretofore one commissioner has served in the poor office. P. O. Elder filled this position for a time in addition to his other duties, and later Calvin Boyd took up the work. Boyd spends most of his time in the poor board office at present. In addition there is a lady who does the necessary clerical work.

The commissioners opposed to creating a new job are of the opinion that it can be handled without any more help. If necessary two commissioners could serve in the poor board office while Hogue is out on investigations. For that matter all three commissioners have time on their hands, as there is nothing much doing along other lines at present that cannot be handled by the clerical force.

The county-commissioners have a chief clerk and several deputies to look after clerical work and the county controller is also in the office.

For this reason it is argued that regardless of possible political debts another position in the poor department seems wholly unnecessary.

He attended the public schools, the Edinboro State Normal School and Lake Shore Seminary, North East, Pennsylvania. He was admitted to the Erie county bar in 1878 and practiced law until 1897, having served in the meantime one term as district attorney and one as state senator.

He was president judge of the sixth district (Erie county) for 19 years, ending January, 1915", when he became a member of the Pennsylvania supreme court by appointment of Governor Brumbaugh, followed by election for a full term, beginning January, 1917. Allegheny College, in 1920, conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

BOMB EXPLODES IN POSTOFFICE AT EASTON, PA.

the day. House's death, they said was only a matter of hours.

Werkheiser, from his hospital cot, gasped out to Pennsylvania and New Jersey police the story of the bombing. He said two Italians brought six small parcels to the postoffice early this morning. They were addressed to persons in New York and bore return addresses in Dover, N. J.

Clerk Suspicious

"The pair seemed anxious to have them mailed promptly. After I took the packages, the men walked hurriedly out of the entrance and disappeared in a waiting machine.

"I became suspicious after the men left and decided to open one of the packages. I was trying to open it when suddenly it let go with a roar. That was the last I remembered until I was picked up," said Werkheiser.

Police obtained a good description of the two Italians from Rev. Paul T. Stengel, of Easton, who was standing near the post office entrance when the pair made their hurried exit.

Government agents were expected to enter investigation of the explosion which aroused the entire city. No attempt has yet been made to open the remaining five packages because of fear that other blasts may result.

JAPANESE TROOPS MOVE ON TOWARDS CITY OF CHINCHOW

ed trainloads of troops found little difficulty in taking the second post.

Military officers at Mukden informed the war office here that two trainloads of Chinese troops evacuating Chinchow, totalling 5,000 men, passed through Shanhainkwan on their withdrawal south of the great wall.

The Chinese gave a scarcity of ammunition as the reason for their evacuation of Chinchow.

Encounter Armored Trains

TOKYO, Dec. 29. — Japanese troops, advancing southward on Koupangtze from Hsinmin, engaged several armored carloads of Chinese in heavy fighting near Paichipao today.

The Japanese left Hsinmin at 6 o'clock this morning to capture Koupangtze, where they will be met by another Japanese army marching from the southeast under General Jiro Tamon.

The units advancing from the north whipped their machine into the fastest action possible to prevent retreating Chinese from blowing up the railway behind them. The Japanese need the railway greatly on their big march. Airplanes were brought into frequent play to protect it.

Large Troop Movement

Movement of troops out of Hsinmin, brought there from Mukden, was carried out on a large scale but in manchinelike order. Protected by squadrons of airplanes flying overhead, armoured trains carrying troops and sup lies left in intervals of 15 minutes.

Advices from Chinchow said the evacuation of Chinese continued this morning, the Chinese troops retiring to Shanhaikwan as their immediate objective.

A dispatch from Panshan, where General Tamon's army battled Chinese troops yesterday, stated 100 Chinese were found dead after the Japanese had captured the city.

MUKDEN, Dec. 30.—Continuing a smashing offensive in their campaign against Chinchow despite evacuation of that city by the Chinese, Japanese armies today aimed directly at the capture of Koupangtze, closing in on the strategic point from three directions.

One army, starting southward from Faku, northwest of Mukden, advanced to the Tahushan-Tangliao branch of the Pieping Mukden railway and was reported to have captured Changwu in the course of its march on Koupangtze.

A second larger body of troops, fully equipped and heavily armed, moved down the Peiping-Mukden railway from Hsinmin, whence they were moved yesterday and today from Mukden.

The third army advanced from Panshan, which, under the direction of General Jiro Tamon, the Japanese captured yesterday in fighting which resulted in 100 Chinese deaths.

PEIPING, Dec. 30. — Japan's smashing offensive against the city of Chinchow continued unabated today despite withdrawal of Chinese troops from that important railway city.

Japanese forces, sweeping down the Peiping-Mukden railway from Hsinmin, captured the towns of Paichipao and Tahushan, while another army advanced swiftly from Panshan toward Koupangtze. The main segments of the Japanese army were converging speedily on Koupangtze, where they will be within eay striking distance of Chinchow.

Whether the Japanese forces will be concentrated and held indefinitely at Koupangtze, or whether they will march boldly into the evacuated city of Chinchow was the subject of much speculation here.

Japs Advance.

Any hopes that Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's action in ordering withdrawal of Chinchow troops within the great wall would result in immediate abandonment of the Japanese offensive were dashed when, in the next 12 hours, the swiftly-moving Japanese troops advanced toward Chinchow from three directions.

Marshal Chang ordered the evacuation of north China proper, particularly Tientsin and Peiping. A total of 24,000 men were to be taken within the great wall, leaving only a garrison force of 6,000 troops at Chinchow.

Japanese Military authorities had stated time and again that the offensive in the Chinchow region was due to the presence of Chinese troops in and near Chinchow, whom they held responsible for subsidizing the bandit gangs which have been terrorizing the area.

That Japan, however, does not intend to call off the offensive despite the withdrawal was indicated when a new brigade set out from Faku, northwest of Mukden, advanced to the Tahushan-Tungliao branch of the P. M. R. and captured Changwu in the course of its march on Koupangtze.

Kit Carson Scout To Pass Old West Relics On To Son

Eighty Pound Bell Cast From Gold, Silver And Copper

(International News Service)

FOWLER, Colo., Dec. 30.—Among the family heirlooms which Jacob Rains, Spanish pioneer and one-time chief scout under Kit Carson, intends to pass on to his son is an 80-pound bell which formerly hung in the Catholic mission at Mora, N. M.

The bell was cast from gold and silver coins, mixed with bits of copper which the settlers dropped into a "bell box" in the church. When General Kearney invaded New Mexico 70 years ago his soldiers destroyed the mission but the bell was salvaged by members of the Rains family.

In addition to the old bell Rains owns a coat of mail which he picked up in old Mexico, a gun which Chief Kaneach, Ute chief, presented to Kit Carson, and other souvenirs of the old West. Some of these he intends to give to the museum at Santa Fe, N. M. The bell, however, is to be kept in the family.

Rains' mementos of the early days are not all in the form of metal knick-knacks, however, as he has a rich store of anecdotes concerning his former chief and other once-famous characters of the plains.

Kit Carson, according to Rains, died of pneumonia and was not killed in battle. Rains says he was with Carson when the famous scout fought his last battle with the Indians. It was near the Cimarron river, south of the present site of Las Animas, Colo. Carson contracted pneumonia soon after the battle and was taken to the Prowers ranch, where he died. His body was taken to Taos, N. M., where it was buried in the Catholic cemetery.

OLDEST LIBRARIAN AND FREE LIBRARY

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 30.—The Rochester Public Library, organized 140 years ago and said to be the oldest free library in the state, also has the oldest librarian in point of service.

She is Miss Lillian E. Parshley, who has just completed thirty eight years of consecutive service as librarian. She was named in October, 1893 and gave out the first books in the new library building which was occupied in January 1894.

Miss Parshley, together with her two assitants and six members of the board of trustees, have a total record of 177 years of service.

ZANESVILLE, O., Dec. 30.—Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, 70-year-old president of Muskingum college, died today in Bethesda hospital here from uremic poisoning and a complication of diseases.

Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers. General Brown will study these recommendations, reach a conclusion of his own, and forward his recommendation with those of the District and Division Engineers to the Rivers and Harbors Board.

The Board will then consider the reports in executive session and if it decides to urge improvement of the rivers will send the reports with its own suggestion to Congress. If the Board concludes no improvement should be made, then those in Pennsylvania and Ohio interested in having the rivers made navigable will be given an opportunity to appear before the Board and present testimony before any report is given to Congress.

If the Board endorses improvement of the rivers, its findings will likely reach Congress within the next month or six weeks. If the Board decides against improvement, then Congress will not receive the report of the survey of the rivers until possibly three months, it was stated at General Brown's office.

Representative Swick plans to introduce a bill authorizing immediate improvement of the rivers as recommended by the Rivers and Harbors Board in the event any improvement is recommended.

200-YEAR-OLD VIOLIN, FLOOD RELIC, EXHIBITED

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 30.—More than 200 years old and valued at $50,000, a violin made by Joseph Guanneri, once chief assistant to Antonio Stradivarius, noted Italian violin maker, was exhibited here by James P. Christensen, the present owner.

Recalling some of its more recent history, Christensen told how his wife saved the instrument from ruin in a Florida flood several years ago by holding it over her shoulder for seven hours until the water resided.

Christensen said his father-in-law gave him the violin many years ago, having received the instrument as a present in Italy.

SOVIET ARCHITECTS PLAN HUGE PALACE

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Dec. 30.—More than a thousand architects, including forty foreign experts, are engaged in drawing up plans for the new "Palace of the Soviets," the gigantic auditorium which is to rise on the site of the cathedral of Christ the Redeemer, now rapidly disappearing.

Ten thousand workmen swarm daily over the mammoth white cathedral—Moscow's largest if not its most beautiful—demolishing the building as fast as they can. The cathedral was built in commemoration of the retreat of Napoleon from Moscow. It held, in its prime, ten thousand worshippers. Today ten thousand ex-worshippers are busily removing the last trace of its existence.

Fifteen thousand will find places in the big auditorium. A further six thousand can listen to speeches in the smaller hall, besides there is to be a series of smaller rooms, committee rooms, refreshment rooms, and laboratories.

After the general specifications had been completed, a competition was called to enable all architects to submit designs. The competition is still in progress and it is understood highly satisfactory sketches have been received both from Russian and from foreign architects.

The acoustic properties of the main halls are to be in the hands of a group of Americans who will use American materials in fitting up the auditorium.

DAN CUPID IN COLLEGES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—Little Dan Cupid makes greater inroads into the ranks of college students each year, according to college officials of this city. Summer school students wed in even greater numbers, a University of Pennsylvania professor revealed, than do the students in regular college sessions.

GRAMODA KENSINGTON HAS HOLIDAY PARTY

The Gramoda Kensington members were pleasingly received Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. M. L. Porter on Highland avenue, when she entertained at their annual Yuletide party, having as special guests Miss Martha Fulkerson of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Harry Riblett.

The exchange of Christmas packages was the feature of the evening, with the balance of the social period being devoted to bridge. Later, a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Riblett. The season's tones predominated throughout in the menu and table appointments, and also the same idea was fittingly expressed in the room decorations.

A short business session was held and election of new officers occurred with the following results: President, Mrs. Robert Grooms; vice-president, Mrs. T. A. McCurdy; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Snyder.

In two weeks Mrs. Grooms of Greenwood avenue will be club hostess.

G. A. T. 1914 Club.

A delightful meeting of the G. A. T. 1914 club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas McNicholas on Huron avenue. Eight members and two guests were present, Mrs. Dave Hitchens and Mrs. Owen Clark, the latter of Warren, Ohio.

Informal pastimes whiled away the hours in a pleasant manner, followed by the serving of a dainty repast by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. David Griffith. The season's tones prevailed in the decorations.

Mrs. Joseph Wilkins of North street will entertain in two weeks at her home.

YULETIDE PARTY AT MT. JACKSON HOME

Perfect in every appointment was the Yuletide party held Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McCart on the Mt. Jackson road when they extended hospitality to associates of the O. N. T. club and their husbands who were special guests.

The hours were enlivened with amusing contests and games of a wide variety, preceded by the serving of a most delectable chicken dinner at 7 o'clock. The large table marking for 25 guests was elaborately decorated in the season's tones, adding much to the gaiety of the affair. The hostess was assisted throughout the evening by Mrs. Henry Ehle and Mrs. E. O. Reed.

Following the exchange of Christmas packages, which was conducted in an unique manner, the guests departed for home, voting their hosts royal entertainers.

The regular meeting of the club will be held in January, the date to be announced later, at the home of Mrs. Louis Gailey on the Mt. Jackson road.

Club Elects Officers.

Mrs. Jack Carr was hostess last evening to the O. F. B. club members in her home on Leasure avenue. A business session was in order and election of officers for 1932 took place with the following results: President, Mrs. Howard Barge; vice-president, Mrs. Roy Cummings; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Louis Ziegler, and press reporter, Mrs. Francis Drake.

Bingo was later enjoyed as the main diversion, with Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Drake being successful in capturing the prizes. The serving of a delectable menu concluded the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Carr was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Louis Ziegler. Tones suggestive of the season were used in the appointments.

On Monday, January 11, the club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. August Holfelder at Walmo.

Return To Harvard

Donald Eckles, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Eckles, East Moody avenue, left this morning to resume his studies at the Harvard medical school, following a holiday visit here.

Leaving with Mr. Eckles was John Gratiot, Harvard student from Monte Ne, Cal., who spent a part of his vacation at the Eckles home. Both Eckles and Gratiot are classmates in the medical school.

JUNIOR HADASSAHS GREET WORLD ZIONIST

Three local girls, Misses Lillian Fishkin, Ina Rosenberg and Ellen Shifman, are in New York City this week attending a convention of the Junior Hadassahs, being held in the Hotel New Yorker, and today they are greeting Nahum Sokolow, world Zionist president.

Mr. Sokolow, who is one of the most versatile men in the world, speaks fluently in 36 languages, has travelled extensively and will have an enlightening address for the young Jewish women, who are gathered from all over the United States this week.

Mr. Sokolow is also president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and he arrived in New York today on the S. S. Majestic and was greeted at the dock by outstanding Zionist leaders of the United States, as well as by a delegation from the Junior Hadassah convention.

Mr. Sokolow is accompanied by his daughter, Dr. Celina Sokolow, and Sir Norman Angell, famous economist and historical writer and former member of parliament, who will tour the United States, along with the Sokolows, stimulating interest in Palestine.

BRIDGE CLUB GUESTS TUESDAY EVENING

A period of informal pastimes was enjoyed by associates of the 1931 Bridge club members Tuesday evening when they assembled in the home of Mrs. John Wilson, Wilmington avenue, for a social time, having as a special guest Mrs. Iva Jones.

Cards was featured and prizes for scores were presented to Mrs. Anna Mathieson and Mrs. Earl Bishop at the close of play. Dainty refreshments were served throughout the contest and appointments in keeping with the Christmas season prevailed.

They departed at a late hour, agreeing to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. M. J. Jones on Wilmington avenue.

Party For Student

Kenneth Johnson, Bell avenue, a student at Beulah Beach Bible school, who is spending the holiday vacation at his home, was honored Tuesday evening when the members of the Cecelia Lewis and the John Johannson Bible classes of the Gospel Tabernacle, taught by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, assembled at the home of Thomas McCann, Katherine street.

Forty five young people were in the group and an evening of good fellowship and fun was enjoyed, with various kinds of games and music as diversions.

Mr. Johnson was presented with a lovely gift by the young people, with Mrs. Joseph Jenkins making the presentation speech. Mr. Johnson responded most graciously.

At a late hour Mrs. McCann, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, Mrs. Linton and Mrs. Owrey, served refreshments.

Entertain At Cards

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cheers of New Castle, R. D. 5, entertained a group of friends in their home on a recent evening as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaffer who are moving this week to Richmond, Ky., where the former will take up his work as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The hours were spent informally with cards, and after play, novel prizes were given to James Cheers, Mrs. Frances Pontius and Miss Lucille Beerbower. A dainty lunch was later served.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Reid Cummins, of New Castle, Mrs. Frances Pontius of Neshannock Falls, Frank Cheers, Harry Cheers, and James Cheers of New Wilmington, Miss Lucille Beerbower of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Gus Epler of Ellwood City and the hosts.

GRETCHEN SMITH ENTERTAINS CLASS

Miss Gretchen Smith, Highland avenue, was a most charming hostess Tuesday evening when she entertained the members of the D. O. C. Class of the Highland United Presbyterian church, in her home, which was gaily decorated in Christmas greens, holly and mistletoe, with a large lighted tree as a background.

After a brief business meeting with Thelma Merrilees presiding, the girls enjoyed an evening of table games after which the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ed Smith, served refreshments.

The January meeting will be at the home of Thelma Merrilees, Albert street.

DELPHIAN SOCIETY MEETS IN CASTLETON

Castle Chapter of the Delphian Society met in regular session Tuesday afternoon in The Castleton, with a good number in attendance. After a preliminary survey of the afternoon's subject by the president, Mrs. Charles T. Metzler, the following program on Greek Comedy was presented with Mrs. W. L. Campbell acting as leader: "Old Comedy" by Mrs. H. D. Harlan; "Analysis of "The Birds" by Mrs. R. L. Boyd; "Middle and New Comedy" by Miss Sarah Knott; "Character of New Comedy" by Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand; "Analysis of "The Brothers" by Mrs. D. T. McConahy.

Following a short discussion period, the meeting adjourned.

Yuletide Dinner

The home of Mrs. J. O. Woods, Moody avenue, was the scene of a happy gathering Tuesday when the members of the Katherine Von Bora Missionary Society of the St. John's Lutheran church assembled for a tureen dinner.

One long table and several small tables were cleverly decorated in Yuletide suggestions and a delicious menu issued forth from the tureens brought by the members.

Miss Margaretta Hess was welcomed as a new member.

At the conclusion of dinner the guests were treated to an unusual entertainment when Mr. and Mrs. Woods projected upon a screen moving pictures of themselves, in their home life and of beautiful scenery, through which they had passed on various trips. The pictures were all taken by them.

When the pictures were shown a play followed and many novel games were introduced, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

February 1, the society will hold its next meeting.

Jollikousins Club Guests

Members of the Jollikousins Club met at the home of Mrs. Helena Gribble, Garfield avenue on Tuesday evening for a social time. Various games and contests were enjoyed, with prizes going to Mrs. Letha Bishop and Mrs. Thelma Gardner. Other pastimes included tables of 500 and pool.

At a suitable hour, the hostess served a delicious lunch, assisted by Miss Gertrude Cromie and Mrs. Bishop. A special guest of the evening was Mrs. Gladys Marshall.

Adjournment followed, and in two weeks, Mrs. Letha Bishop of Bell avenue will entertain in her home.

Decorations in keeping with the Christmas season, were used effectively throughout the rooms, and also the same tones were cleverly displayed in the menu appointments.

We-Hava Club.

Mrs. Robert Booth of Lathrop street entertained the We-Hava club members in her home Tuesday evening. Election of officers was the feature of the business transactions; namely, president, Mrs. Jesse Forrest; vice-president, Mrs. Harry Davis; secretary, Mrs. Merritt Reynolds.

Later, a contest in cards was enjoyed and novel awards went to Mrs. Dan Heasley and Mrs. Clarence Bixler for honors at the conclusion of play. After the serving of a delectable lunch by the hostess, the meeting adjourned. Mrs. David Rowland assisted Mrs. Booth with the menu.

In two weeks Mrs. Walter Jones of Youngstown, O., will entertain the club.

Miss Frances Comuso was hostess to the Happy-Go-Lucky Club in their club rooms on South Jefferson street recently. Business was given attention, followed by games with the prizes going to Mary Iodice, Clara Sazone, Nettie Camuso and Melly Camuso.

Mrs. Alfred Cherol of Youngstown, O., was a special guest.

HADASSAH PLANS FOR LUNCHEON

The regular monthly meeting of the New Castle Chapter of Hadassah was held Tuesday evening in the Beth Shalom Center, Boyles avenue, with Mrs. L. F. Kohn in the chair.

Plans were started for the Mother-Daughter luncheon, which will be given in the Elks Club Sunday, January 17, at which time Mrs. Robert Szold, New York City, national vice president of Hadassah, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Szold is an outstanding leader in Hadassah work and in addition to speaking here on the afternoon of January 17, she will also speak in the Ohio Hotel, Youngstown, Ohio, that evening at a mass meeting, to which the local chapter has accepted an invitation, as well as to the regional conference which will be held January 18.

Mrs. Phillip Levine gave an interesting report of the high lights of the Hadassah convention held recently in Atlantic City, and a clever sketch, "A Busy Morning in the Life of a Hadassah Pesident" was presented by Mrs. L. Groden and Mrs. Sam Grossman.

Hostesses at the social hour following business, were Mrs. A. Fisher, Mrs. Jule Fisher, Mrs. Sam Grossman, Mrs. H. Pitnoff, Mrs. L. Groden, Mrs. S. A. Ginsberg, and Mrs. Harry Wolfe.

Full-A-Fun Club

The Full-A-Fun club members met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ann Schassberger on Wilder avenue. Business matters were discussed, and plans completed for a theatre party to take place the latter part of the coming week. Mrs. Sara Dangel presided.

Cards and dominoe were pastimes, Mrs. Jennie Urban, Mrs. Elsie Bender, Mrs. Sara Nicku, and Mrs. Bertha Weinschenk being awarded the prizes.

Lunch was later served by the hostess. Special guests of the occasion included Ina Wester, Kathryn Pauline, Anna Baka and Mrs. Martin Bender.

In three weeks, the regular session of the club will take place with Anna Roth as hostess.

Ta Te Yah Pah Club

Sewing and chat were the diversions in vogue Tuesday evening for members of the Ta Te Yah Pah club members when they met in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Cannon, Adams street. Special visitors included Mrs. Louanna Book, and Martha Fulkerson, the latter of Pittsburgh.

Lunch was served after the entertainment by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dewey Shifflett. Christmas decorations were tastefully used throughout in the room decorations.

In two weeks the club will meet again with Mrs. George Ferrell of Edgewood avenue as hostess.

O. N. 500 Club

The regular session of the O. N. 500 club was held at the home of Betty Nicholson on Marshall avenue Tuesday evening. Cards forming the feature diversion, occupied the early hours, and prizes were won by Dorothy Fletcher and Betty Uber. A business session was later called, followed by the serving of a dainty lunch by the hostess. She was assisted by her mother Mrs. Nicholson, throughout the evening.

In two weeks, the members will meet with Gertrude Rowland on Superior street.

Club Tureen Luncheon

Mrs. Will McCullough of McClelland avenue entertained the T. N. T. Club women in her home Tuesday at a noon tureen luncheon. A delicious menu was served at a table prettily decorated in keeping with the season, and the hostess was assisted by her grand-daughter, Eleanor Heckart in serving.

1929 FIVE HUNDRED CLUB TUREEN DINNER

Most delightful was the Yuletide party held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Titus on Edison avenue Tuesday evening when she entertained members of the 1929 Five-Hundred Club. The affair was featured with the serving of a delicious tureen dinner at 6:30 o'clock at a large table beautifully appointed in the holiday tones. The center was graced with poinsettas, and at either end was placed a tall slender green taper tied with bows of red maline. Novelties expressing the same idea were used in the arrangement of the rooms also.

At the conclusion of serving, the guests participated in a 500 contest, with prizes for honors being captured by the Misses Elsie Stephenson and Henrietta Bishop and Mrs. Catherine Flynn. Following, the guests exchanged Christmas gifts, another feature of the evening.

Preceding the social period a business session was in order, and matters of interest transacted.

On Tuesday January 12 the members will be received at the home of Miss Hazel Allen, 84 South Lee avenue.

St. Paul's Baptist

Rev. S. J. Jackson, pastor of the St. Paul's Baptist church, 616 West North street, announces that the congregation will have a watch meeting Thursday evening, which will begin at 9 o'clock, and it is anticipated that every member will take part in this service of prayer and expression.

The pastor will preach a short sermon on "The Church Celebrating her Return from Captivity."

Missionary Meeting

The Foreign Missionary Society of St. John's United Holy Church of America, 1015 Moravia street, will meet this evening at 7:30.

Union Baptist Church

The close of the old year will be observed in the Union Baptist church Thursday evening at 10 p. m., when a brief sermon will be delivered by the pastor and the choir will have special musical numbers.

Second Baptist Church

There will be no prayer meeting in the Second Baptist church this evening as New Years eve will be observed with a watch meeting Thursday evening with a business meeting at 7:30, at which time reports will be heard from the various departments of the church and all auxiliaries, and there will be an election of officers for the coming year, with a closing address by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Nelson.

At 9:30 there will be an intermission, at which time refreshments will be served by the young people of the church and at 11 o'clock the congregation will go to the main auditorium of the church, where a special religious service will be held, featured by songs, prayers and exhortations.

E. Walker and Charles Watson will be in charge of the program, which will close at midnight.

Watch Night Service

The Bethel A. M. E. Church, 312 Green street, will have a watch night service Thursday evening, with the pastor, Rev. William McPherson, delivering an appropriate sermon at 10:30 on "The Untrodden Way."

After the sermon there will be a testimonial and resolution service led by E. Gray, Louis Carr, G. W. Clark and Dan Miller.

Lodge to Meet.

Members of Elmer lodge 63, F. & A. M. will be entertained Thursday evening in the home of the worshipful master, J. William Wall, 113 S. Beaver street, and an oyster supper will feature the evening, which will close with watching the old year out and the new year in.

James McCarthy is chairman of arrangements.

Young People Of Third U. P. Church Plan Watch Party

The Y. P. C. U. Of The Third United Presbyterian Church To Welcome New Year

A number of novel "Watch Parties" have been planned for Thursday evening, New Year's Eve, and one of particular interest is that scheduled for the Y. P. C. U. members of the Third United Presbyterian church.

The members will gather at the church and a special program of entertainment including many games and contests, in charge of Claire Alford, chairman of a selected committee, will be in progress from 9 until 12 o'clock. During the evening, refreshments will be served by Williard McCown and committee.

In winding up the old year, and ushering in the New Year, Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church who will be present as their guest, will speak. His message will be interesting and important to the young people of today.

Are Reorganizing City Departments In Pittsburgh, Pa.

Police And Firemen Seek To Reorganize Conforming To Pay Skeleton

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30. — Police and fire officials today prepared to reorganize their departments on a skeleton basis for 1932 to conform with council's sweeping slash of appropriations for these departments.

Meanwhile, thousands of city employes were awaiting the pay reductions and enforced furloughs which council ordered in its attempt to balance the 1932 budget with a 2¼ mill tax decrease.

Council's budget committee decreed that all city workers receiving less than $3,000 annually would be required to take a month's vacation without pay or work twelve months with a pay cut of 8⅓ per cent.

AUTOMOBILE INSPECTION TO BEGIN FRIDAY

BEGINNING Friday, Pennsylvania will inaugurate the new system of compulsory inspection of automobiles. Owners must submit their cars to approved testing stations during the three months ending March 31. Those which fail to meet requirements will receive no windshield sticker and will be barred from the highways for the next ensuing quarter. The second inspection period will start on July 1 and extend to September 30. Cars then found in an unsafe mechanical condition will lose the freedom of the highways until the end of 1932. This is almost equivalent to a year-round establishment of inspection stations. The current year established a moratorium on the necessity for having one's automobile probed for faults, the interregnum resulting from the change in the law which set forth new dates.

The three essentials for safe driving, according to Commissioner Eynon, are brakes, windshield wipers and lights. Nobody can quarrel with the apparent purpose of the Highway Department to insist upon strict observance of intelligent regulation. But there lurks ever the possibility of causing unnecessary inconvenience to operators. Inspections twice a year will double the problem of the former arrangement, though the fact that in each case the examination may be spread over three months may mitigate some of the annoyance.

Another side of the question concerns the selections of official stations. About 7500 owners of commercial garages have applied for appointment throughout the state. About 35 per cent have already been rejected for failure to come up to specifications. Thus the law requires, not only an inspection of cars, but also an inspection of shops in which it is proposed to inspect the cars.

These plans increase disturbingly the possibility of patronage and favoritism for political ends suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer. Mr. Eynon denies that any such partiality will be shown. He declares that every applicant will have a square deal. It is sincerely hoped that he will succeed in impressing this fact upon all subordinates. For it should not be forgotten that every increase in the government power to meddle brings in its wake of encroachment upon individual liberties the overhead of "inspections." Paternalism tends to overdo the inspection business.

In order to justify this expansion of administrative machinery, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at Harrisburg will have to prove that it is actually ridding the highways of derelicts and the two extremes of illumination defects—the half-lighted and the dazzingly over-lighted.

A NEW BUSINESS HAND

This is the traditional time for business estimates for the new year. But the prophets are wary now. They have seen too many prophecies fail in these last two years.

One of the country's least discredited business analyists; Col. Leonard P. Ayres, while refusing to make any definite predictions for 1932, makes this signicant and picturesque statement of the situation:

He likens business to a game of poker. The business man, he says, disgusted with the cards he has been draw. , and discarding, is ready to say to Fate: "Deal me five cards."

Business is done with the past. It is ready to face the future and make the best of whatever hand it draws. It is much to have arrived at this state of mind. Now, with the new deal, we may get somewhere.

SAFE AND SANE HOLIDAYS

It is a strange after-Christmas headline: "168, Holiday Death Toll in Nation." Most of the deaths occurred in traffic accidents with various causes—fatigue, speed, traffic congestion, Christmas liquor, slippery pavements. Some of the deaths were from other couses—drownings, accidental shootings, and so on. There were comparatively few burns, though the fire hazard used to be the greatest physical peril in the days of candle-lighted Christmas trees.

It is unfortunate and unnecessary that any holiday be attended with a long list of injuries and fatalities. Americans have tried to take the tragedy from the Fourth of July, and a good many communities have succeeded in reducing its anguish. Perhaps we need a safe-and-sane drive for Christmas, too.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN AND THE WORLD COURT

When members of the gentler sex go after anything in earnest they usually get what they want. The announcement that the Republican women of the country intend to make a drive for the ratification of our participation in the World Court is certain to arouse fresh interest in the subject in Washington.

It is proposed to organize a national committee of these women for the purpose of petitioning the Senate to take action on the three pending protocols which will allow the entry of the United States into the Court. The promoters of the movement say that the question is not whether we shall agree to participate in the work of the Court—because that was favorably decided in 1926—but it is whether the pending protocols satisfy the reservations made by the Senate at that time.

The Department of State, which is responsible for matters of this kind, says that they do. When President Hoover authorized the signing of these protocols he made it clear that he favored entering the Court. Indeed, that has become the acknowledged official Republican policy. It has had the support of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, and has been furthered, as far as possible, by their Secretaries of State. The present Chief Justice of the United States served on this international bench and afterward declared that it was "the absolute minimum of intelligent effort for the promotion of world peace." Mr. Coolidge, who was never given to overstatement, said: "It is for the generation which saw and survived to devise measures of prevention. If we fail in this we shall deserve the disasters which will surely be visited upon us because of our failure."

In view of these statements it is evident that the Republican women are performing a public service in the attempt to secure action on this long-delayed movement to put this country in a position where it can do its part in trying to halt wars and rumors of wars.

A Massachusetts professor says that college girls are apt to be "sloppy" in their manner of dress. But it's sloppy dressing the colleges have to worry about but sloppy thinking—and it isn't all done by the student thinking.

All Of Us

It Makes Us What We Are Pressure Is All Around
Inside, Outside

By MARSHALL MASLIN

You dip your hand in a swift-running stream and you feel the cool pressure of the moving water.

You set your hand against an opening in the wall and you feel the pressure of the intangible air.

You talk to a man—a friend, an acquaintance, a wise man, a stupid man, someone you like, someone you don't anybody—and you can feel upon you the pressure of what he is and wha' he believes.

You read a poem, a newspaper, a novel, a biography and you lean against a pressure or move along with it.

Everywhere is that pressure. It is in the past, too. The dead hand of that past—dead, but miraculously alive and strong—pushes you. Somewhere people thought and people acted, people turned coward, people were beautifully brave. There was Beethovan, deaf—and writing melodies that would never be silent. There was Henley, with the crippled foot—and insisting he was the Captain of his Soul. There was Keats, dying so young—but not before he wrote undying verse. There were so many of them, and some were good and some were bad, and some were strong and some were weak. . . . Socrates and Alexander and Cleopatra. Attila the Hun and Julius Caesar and Mary Queen of Scots. Queen Elizabeth and Lucretia Borgia and Queen Isabella. Walter Raleigh and Shakespeare and Robespierre. . . . All mixed up. All thrown together in the memory.

Benjamin Franklin and Benedict Arnold. Mati Hari the spy and Edith Cavell the nurse. Thomas Edison and Marc Antony. Napoleon the Great and Jesus Christ the tender and strong. . . . Touch the past anywhere and you feel its pressure on the life you live today.

Even the future gets behind us, somehow, and presses us on. We think of that future and it moves us strongly. . . . There is this we wish to do, that we would like to be, but the future will not allow. We are children of the past.

We live this pressure that is a part of all life, and it helps to make us what we are. . . . But if we think too much about the pressure that is life we end by being as near to nothing as a human being can possibly be.

Two suburban districts in London bear the names of Hampstead and Islington. They adjoin and the same railway bus goes into each suburb. The conductor was announcing the arrival of the first of these two places by shouting "'Amstead. 'Amstead."

"Pardon me," said a passenger, as he was getting off the bus, "Conductor, you've dropped something—the "H" in Hampstead."

"That's all right, sir," came the cheerful rejoinder. "Hi'll pick hit hup hat Hislington."

THE TRUE WORTH

Of a book is the noble action it inspires.
Of a life is the better world it leaves behind.
Of a law is the improved character is makes possible.
Of an industry is the man it makes, not the machine it builds.
Of a generation is the heritage it is able to pass on to the next generation.
Of a religion is the increased respect for life that it produces.
Of a church is the way it increases the sense of brotherhood throughout the race.

THE MIRACULOUS 2%

A Baltimore firm recently issued a little circular showing that prosperity may be greatly encouraged by the prompt payment of bills. Think this over:

"If checks were mailed this Tuesday," says the circular, "for only 20 per cent of the unpaid bills over 10 days old, the potential buying power of the country would be increased at least $1,000,000,000.00 by next Thursday night."

A startling statement, and yet why not? When we pay our bills, taking advantage of the two per cent we are saving money which will make us able to enlarge our own business. The creditor who gives us the two per cent for prompt payment is able to turn his money and stock quicker and thus increase his business. Labor Defeat In Australia Classed With That In Britain

Unsound Policies Which Intensified Depression Asserted By Americans To Have Created Demand For Conservative Methods

Defeat for the Labor government of Australia, at the hands of the voters, is viewed by Americans as similar to the political turnover in Great Britain. The new Premier, Joseph A. Lyons, is held to be seeking more conservative methods than those of his predecessor, James Scullin, although Lyons was a member of the Scullin cabinet. The parallel to MacDonald's campaign is recognized.

"The decision to have done with the Labor government was emphatic," says the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, recalling that "affairs have been in bad order for some time, primarily because of extensive ventures in public ownership." That paper points out that "the railroads and all other kinds of utilities are in the hands of the government," and that "many factories and stores also, and even hotels, are there publicly owned." The Evening News adds that "in its endeavor to rehabilitate industry and finance, the new government enters upon a long and difficult task."

"As in England," observes the LOUISVILLE COURIER - JOURNAL, "a coalition of the moderate forces inflicted an emphatic defeat on the radical element. As in England, the champions of 'sound and sane' financing were led by a former Laborite. Lyons, however, was not the Ramsay MacDonald in the contest. He might better be compared with Philip Snowden. He was the Treasurer for a time in the Scullin Cabinet. He was the orthodox ecconomist in a doctrinaire Ministry and he led the fight in the Government for sound financing against the inflationists on the one hand and the debt repudiations on the other. It was due to him that a huge conversion loan was successfully carried out to meet obligations of $104,000,000 that were maturing, and Australia did not default on its London and New York debts because of this action. Lyons was virtually in control during the absence of Premier Scullin, when the latter attended the imperial conference in London, and he kept the Government in the ways of modification until he quit the Ministry some six months ago."

"Australia has strengthened international confidence," in the opinion of the HARTFORD TIMES, which sees "another illustration of democracy in action and profiting by the experience of loss." The Times continues: "The temptation is strong to heed radical advice when conditions became unfavorable, but when the new theories have been tried and found to be bitterly disappointing there is an even more pronounced return to conservatism. Fortunate is the nation which reads history at more than a chapter at a time. The laws of economics, as these apply to the science of government, have become so fully established that nation can do them violence only at its own peril."

"When people are scared," observes the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "they become conservative, but the retiring Premier, Scullin, could not become conservative enough for the panicky public which deserted the impractical idealism of Australian Socialism for hard-boiled, strait-laced John Bullism. Today Australia is enormously in debt, forced to find money for current expenses as well as for interest and retirement payments on old borrowings from a market that cannot buy its wool or wheat, beef or mutton. Australia's really hard times are scheduled to begin, only now, with the new government's need to cut salaries and raise taxes, postpone improvements and generally to revere farthings where once sovereigns were tossed about."

"For some time," declares the BALTIMORE SUN, "it has been recognized that Scullin was doomed. He has been open to slashing attacks from not only the regular Nationalist opposition but the extreme Laborite, J. T. Lang, Premier of New South Wales, and the ex-Laborites like Lyons and Fenton. The deficit of the Federal Government and the six state governments continued to mount and the efforts of Labor, in face of world-wide depression, to rehabilitate the national finances were futile. * * * It is not likely that in Australia the Laborites have suffered quite the eclipse which they seemed to have experienced in England. Before the Scullin victory of two years ago they had thirty-one members in the House; at the outset of the period of their government they had forty-six; now they have sixteen. They are out and 'nationalism' is triumphant, but there is no indication that their power has been broken in any decisive or permanent way."

Development of resentment among the voters is emphasized by the NEW YORK SUN, which sees, as the reason, "the government's attempt to compel the banks to make available $40,000,000 for unemployed and farm relief, in addition to the $80,000,000 they had undertaken to provide to balance the budget." The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL holds that "the financial adversities which finally necessitated guarantees by the British government that Australian financial obligations would be met caused a wave of deep dissatisfaction to sweep the country."

"In spite of the opposition of Labor radicals," records the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "a program of rigid economy was made effective in both the States and Commonwealth this year and debt-carrying charges were reduced by a successful conversion loan. But last month the Government was defeated by the union of some of its own recalcitrants with the opposition and the country has now turned Labor out. Prime Minister Scullin, in a position of great difficulty, has made a sincere effort to make effective financial reform and economies. He was hampered by the wild men of his own party and Labor's unity was weakened by factional and personal quarrels. The party, as a whole, has paid the penalty for its positive offenses against sound economic policy, and for its general ineffectiveness in a time of stress."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE SOON BUSINESS

We took from the corner where we saw it as a blot,
We thought the man who ran it was the lowest of the lot.
We took it from the highway with its ever swinging door,
And we put it in the parlor where it hadn't been before.

The old saloon we banished with its smell of gin and beer.
We did it for our children! Such a notion now seems queer!
For we're prancing through the parlor with the cocktails which we make
And we're passing round the bottle—as we say—for freedom's sake.

We voted prohibition to get rid of the saloon.
With its slot machine piano and its brassy, jangling tune,
But we've opened wide the parlor to a wide-eyed drinking crowd
And I wonder can the children of their folks be very proud?

We took it from the corner as a den of vice and shame,
And we put it in the parlor—so we've but ourselves to blame.
Liquor's dangerous stuff to handle, for a profit or for fun,
In the parlor, on the corner, a saloon is hard to run.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

"Should the bride of the present time continue to hold her position in shop or office?"

How much this question is debated.

The answer depends so much upon the young husband's income.

In the majority of cases both must curtail personal expenses if one salary is to support both and a home.

It is doubtful if married life in general would go along smoothly if the bride has earned a good salary and is at once compelled to economize to the point where she has scarcely a penny to spend on herself and very little for household use.

Until within the past two years girls have earned fairly high salaries.

The girls were independent and could meet ordinary demands for the things which they have learned to consider necessary to a well groomed woman.

There must be a strong and enduring love to accept good-naturedly conditions which mean a less attractive personal appearance.

The solution seems to be that young brides should retain their positions at least until a "nest egg" is accumulated.

It will greatly assist in keeping the home happy.

Retired Naval Officer Will Partner Lenz

Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., Adds Spice To Contract Bridge Tilt

CONSERVATIVE IN HIS EVERY PLAY

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—A retired naval officer, rotund, smiling and quite convinced that "all this ballyhoo is ruining the game of bridge" was in the Lenz-Culbertson match for better or for worse today.

He is Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., one of the most capable as well as one of the most conservative players in the country, who last night replaced Oswald Jacoby as the partner of Sidney Lenz in the latter's grim battle against Ely Culbertson and the approach-forcing system.

Praised By Lenz.

Satisfied over his debut, what with having aided Lenz to cut the Culbertson lead by 520 points to a total of 16,320 in the course of nine placid rubbers, Commander Liggett sat back in his chair amid a swirl of tobacco smoke when the session was over and expounded his philosophy of cards.

Commander Liggett's ever present smile belied the harshness of his criticism. He indicated he would gladly continue as Lenz's partner as long as Lenz wanted him and that he intended to enjoy himself in spite of everything.

"Commander Ligget played an excellent game," Lenz said. There were no misunderstandings and no bids that were misleading. It was an extremely enjoyable session."

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Missionary Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of the Bethany Lutheran church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Clement Parkinson, Crawford avenue for the monthly session.

The missionary subject for the evening was "Alaska" and Mrs. Oscar Woods was the leader. At the close of the lesson a business meeting followed with Mrs. Charles Thompson presiding.

An election of officers took place with the result that Mrs. Charles Thompson will be president the coming year; Mrs. Sherman Kitson, vice president; Mrs. Lee Whittaker, secretary and Mrs. Clement Parkinson, treasurer.

Mrs. M. Lovejoy was a special guest.

January 26 will mark the date of the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Woods, East Washington street.

First Pentecost Church

Rev. John Kellner, pastor of the First Pentecost church, Pearson street, announces that a special watch night service will be held in the church Thursday evening, beginning at 9 o'clock with a devotional service.

State Elections Come Next Year

State Officials, Legislators, Senators, Etc., To Be Named

PRIMARY COMES DURING SPRING

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—Officials in the state elections bureau are anticipating a rush of candidates during the next few months for persons aspiring to public office. Already inquiries have been received from prospective candidates seeking information about the places to be filled at the April primary.

On January 26 it will be legal to circulate petitions for party nominations. The elections bureau will distribute blanks for candidates who plan to seek the various nominations for these offices.

At the primary this year there will be nominated candidates for auditor general, state treasurer, United States senator, thirty-four congressmen, 208 places in the House of Representatives, half of the state senate, delegates and alternates to the party conventions and also membership on the state committees of the various political parties.

While the number of congressional places to be filled this next election is a decrease of two from previous years officials of the bureau do not expect any smaller number of candidates. There is always an abundance of candidates on years of a presidential election. The existing economic condition is expected to produce an unusally large number of aspirants especially for congress and the two legislative branches.

There are five parties eligible to nominate candidates at the 1932 primary. They are the Republican, Democratic, Liberal, Prohibition and Socialist.

The first candidate to ask bureau officials for nominating petitions was State Senator George W. Woodward, of Philadelphia. He has announced his candidacy for the place now held by United States Senator James J. Davis. Senator Woodward says he will run on a wet platform.

Six Injured As Big Bus Crashes

Three Believed Seriously Injured As Result Of Crash Near Bridgeport, Conn.

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 30.—A passenger bus crashed into a pole here Tuesday injuring six persons, three of them seriously. Nine other passengers escaped unhurt.

Most seriously injured were: Harold Simonian, 33, Middletown, possible skull fracture, Ralph Phillips, 24, Hartford, concussion of the brain; Edward Eddy, 42, New York, fractured pelvis and back and hip injury.

We suppose the New York officials' main reason for wanting to catch the killers of Jack Diamond is to thank them personally.—The Columbus Ohio State Journal.

GRAB BAG

How many birds are there to an acre in the United States?

For short distances, what bird flies the fastest.

How long do the ordinary birds live?

Correctly Speaking—

"Characteristic" means a distinguishing quality. Say "On incident of my life is climbing College Hill", not "One characteristic of my daily life is climbing College Hill."

Today's Anniversary.

On this day, in 1763, the survey of the Mason and Dixon line, between Pennsylvania and Maryland, was begun.

Today's Horoscope.

Persons born on this day are thoughtful, contemplative, close in money matters, calculating, shrewd at a bargain and withal deeply religious.

Answers to Foregoing Questions.

1. There are in the United States approximately two birds to the acre.
2. The humming bird is the swiftest in short flights.
3. The average length of life of small common birds, such as a robin, is from 10 to 15 years.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL TO WOMAN

MONACA, Pa., Dec. 30.—Injuries received in a fall while visiting at the home of Councilman and Mrs. E. H. McMahon in Monaca yesterday caused the death in Rochester General hospital of Mrs. Etta A. Roland, widow of Alfred C. Roland, 20 Division street, Crafton. Funeral service will be held today.

SLANGING THE PROVERB

"If my husband is bad tempered I just treat him with contempt" said a woman in court. The surly worm gets the bird, so to speak.

Mayor's Fund Provides Daily Soup For Hundreds

Four hundred gallons of soup, almost thirteen barrels, are being furnished daily to several thousands citizens of New Castle through the cooperation of the Mayor's Relief Committee and the Jameson Memorial hospital.

This soup is in reality a stew, as it is much thicker than the ordinary soup, containing a great amount of fresh vegetables and meat, and is a nourishing adjunct to the life of hundreds of New Castle unemployed.

The materials are furnished through the Mayor's Relief Committee even to the salt and pepper, while the work of making this into soup to be delivered to those requesting it through the large number of depots throughout the city, is done at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Made At Hospital

Here two big caldrons in the hospital kitchen are kept steaming from 4 o'clock in the morning, until ten-thirty, as the life-sustaining stew is produced under the expert direction of the hospital chef and dieticians.

One man is employed at the hospital to do nothing else but supervise the making of this soup, and it is almost a continuous process, requiring about 17 out of 24 hours of the day.

The first thing in the morning the meat is put on, seasoning added, and it is boiled. When thoroughly cooked, the meat is removed from the bones, and they are cracked open and again put on to boil, after which the vegetables are added and cooked with the stock which has been made. The meat in the meantime, has been run through a meat grinder, and this is added.

At 10:30 in the morning, the soup is finished and ready to be distributed. It is placed in big cans and loaded on trucks where under the supervision of the Salvation Army, it is given to those making application at eighteen distributing stations located throughout the city. These stations are in vacant storerooms, private homes and school buildings.

Approximately fifteen business transfer and industrial firms have donated the services of a truck and men to mann them in hauling the soup about to the various distributing stations.

As soon as the soup has been finished at the hospital and has been taken away for distribution, the work of getting the next day's supply is started. The potatoes, onions, carrots and other vegetables must be peeled and cut up. Then the proportions of rice, beans, and other vegetables are added, all ready to put with the broth made from the meat in the morning to start another day's supply.

The big kettles or caldrons in which the soup is made were furnished to the committee by the Carnegie Steel Company.

This is but one of the tasks that the Mayor's Relief Committee has assumed in order to keep hundreds of people from suffering this winter, and is where a large amount of money is being spent from the Mayor's Fund, although it is surprising how cheaply this soup can be made, when turned out in such a large quantity.

The average cost is around five cents per gallon, so it will be seen that approximately $20 will give a hot meal to around three thousand people, daily. In addition, the Mayor's Committee gives a basket of food a week to those who are working on the projects being carried out under city direction, and besides takes care of many families where there is no wage earner.

The use of the hospital kitchen in making this soup, is given free of all charge to the Mayor's committee. There is also no cost for the ditsribution, and this matter of aiding those who are unemployed with their living problem is taken care of in an economical way.

GIRLS HELD FOLLOWING SLAYING

Held as members of a youthful gang who robbed a Chicago night club during which a policeman was slain, two young girls have shown different reactions to their predicament. Both have confessed participation in the holdup, police say. Marcella Royce, 17, left, who lives with her father in a luxurious apartment, has smiled confidently since her arrest, while her companion, Dorothy Evans, 16, from a steel worker's family of seven children, has displayed great remorse since her arrest.

Girl Tries To Commit Suicide

Young Girl Rushed To Hospital With Bullet Wound In Abdomen

WAS JUST TIRED OF BEING ALIVE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30.—A 20-year-old girl was taken to the Pittsburgh hospital today with a bullet wound in the abdomen which she told police was self-inflicted "just for fun".

The girl was Phyllis Stashinski, who has been living with a cousin, Mrs. Pauline Alinoff, near Chesswick, for several years.

Mrs. Alinoff was awakened by the shot early today and found the girl in the bathroom, seriously wounded.

"Just for Fun"

County Detective John Carmichael said he asked the girl why she had shot herself and she answered:

"Just for Fun."

Questioned further, he said the girl told him:

"I don't know why I did it."

County detectives found the following note addressed to Mrs. Alinoff in the girl's room.

"Dear Pauline—I am sorry to do this in your house. I guess I am a coward, but I don't give a damn. I am just tired. Phyllis."

Detectives questioned Salvatore Bruno, a friend of the girl, who had driven her to her father's home yesterday. They announced he apparently had no connection with the shooting.

Depression's Migrants Prefer Florida To Coats

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 30.—Across the Ohio river bridge from Jeffersonville, Ind., this afternoon came a weather-stained little coupe with a Chicago vehicle tax sticker on the windshield. Piled high in the rumble were bedding, baggage and boxes; at the wheel, in a much worn light overcoat was a fellow about 30 or 35. Beside him was his wife and in her lap was a two-year-old girl.

This couple in the coupe seemed to be typical of a score of baggage-loaded automobiles seen in a 320-mile swing through Indiana from Chicago to this race horse capital. The driver was interviewed.

"Going to Florida?" he was asked.

"You're right", he replied, grinning, "if I can keep this cheap gasoline perking through the carburetor."

"For the winter?"

"If the bank roll holds out."

As fellow travelers we introduced ourselves. He was Harry Jacoby and until recently he had a cigar store on Ogden avenue.

"Tell me how you do it," he was asked, "so the rest of us can spend the winter in the South."

"That's easy," he replied. "First you want to be out of a job; business was so rotten I closed our store. Then you want to look at your bank roll, if any, and decide whether to spend it for overcoats or for gasoline. If you had to be rich to go South, I'd spend the winter answering help wanted ads.; but I know a place near Tampa where I can rent a bungalow for $30 a month."

If Jacoby is typical of this 1931 tourist invasion of the South, which is just beginning, the folks who make a living catering to travelers are going to have to offer bargains to get any business. Evidently they are aware of this, because a cursory investigation indicates that a motorist this winter will get more mileage on a dollar than ever before.

J. L. Boone, in a local garage, said the storage rates for guests at associated hotels have been cut from 75 to 50 cents per night. The clerk at one of the hotels said the rooms had been reduced 25 per cent.

The overloaded coupe grumbled into low gear and continued on its journey. The Jacobys are following a trail with hundreds of others in a similar financial position.

There are enough of them that it might be viewed as a migration with a general economic significance should their numbers continue to increase.

The Jacobys are headed southward, more concerned with roadside economy than the general economic situation. On the highway and in Florida they will learn whether it might have been better to buy overcoats and to spend the winter in Chicago.

Eight Alleged Robbers Held

State Police Gather Up Suspects In Greensburg District

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—Eight men were ordered held today for court trials following a roundup of store robbers and chicken thieves by state police.

According to authorities, the men admitted parts in the robbery of stores here, in Beatty, Wilpen and Ligonier. They also confessed, police said, to three chicken thefts. Their activities extended over a period of two years and are believed to have covered a large part of Westmoreland and Indiana counties.

Committed to jail following hearing before Squire Walton were Alonaz Ryan, 21; Michael Metala, 19, both of Blacklick; Andrew Rudy, 24, Wilpen; Joseph Lupjo, 50, Ligonier; Adam Reglemon, 57, Brenizer; Andrew Lesnak, 44, Wilpen; Michael Gastarek, 45, Coral, and Adam Raskouski, 48, Brenizer.

JOBLESS FLED JOBS

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY.—City Manager H. F. McElroy is not a magician, but with a few words he caused three men to disappear. The trio, "a committee from the Counsel of Unemployed," appeared before City Manager McElroy and demanded that funds be appropriated for the jobless. McElroy offered them jobs digging ditches for the city. The "committee" disappeared.

High School At Portage Suffers Damage By Fire

Loss Of $150,000 As High School Burns—Firemen Present At Time

(International News Service)

PORTAGE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Fire, fed by oil with which the floors had been waxed during the Christmas holidays, today had razed one three-story building of the Portage high school with an estimated property damage of $150,000.

The conflagration occurred just as volunteer firemen from all parts of the county had gathered here for a meeting last night. Between 200 and 300 of the firemen, most of them attired in business suits, fought the flames.

Joseph Cauffiel Granted Pardon

Former Mayor Of Johnstown Granted Full Pardon By State Board

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—The State Board of Pardons today announced a full pardon for Joseph Cauffiel, former mayor of Johnstown, who was given a two year penitentiary term in January of 1930 for misdemeanor in office and conspiracy. The board had granted a parole to Cauffiel in May of this year. Today's action restores Cauffiel's status as a citizen and releases him from the necessity of serving an additional year under supervision of the parole officer.

The Goal of the Pilgrims' Progress

Here is a picturesque glimpse of some of the thousands of devout pilgrims who made the difficult climb to "Crosses Hill" at Guadalupe, Mexico, in order to kneel at the shrine where it is believed the Virgin appeared four centuries ago. The great fete in honor of the fourth centennial of the apparition brought huge throngs from all over Mexico to the Basilica de Guadalupe at the foot of the hill, despite the Governmental ban upon the ceremonies. All the members of the famous band of the Ministry of War were discharged because they offered to play outside the building as private citizens.

REPRESENT UNCLE SAM AT GENEVA ARMS CONFERENCE

Henry P. Fletcher — Hugh S. Gibson — Senator David Reed — Senator Claude Swanson — Hugh R. Wilson

These five men are expected to comprise the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference in February. Included in the group are Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, Senator Swanson of Virginia, Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium; Hugh Wilson, minister to Switzerland, and Henry Fletcher, former ambassador to Italy. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson may not be able to go.

Comrades Meet After Many Years

Hey 'Looks Up' Comrades While Paying Visit To City

Stanley Cellish, local ex-service man, and Harold Hey, Cincinnati, also an ex-service man, met for the first time last evening since they were mustered out of World war service.

When Hey, who was a sergeant, visited relatives here he named some of the boys with whom he had served and started out to find them.

When Hey walked into the Cellish home, he looked at Stanley and remarked:

"I know you," to which Cellish replied: "My sergeant."

And then came the fanning-bee of war day comradeship.

At the time Cellish and Hey left for Camp Sherman, Cellish lived in Woodlawn and Hey in Rochester.

Since then Cellish has worked in the mills here and Hey has been located in Cincinnati.

Thirty-Day Truce On Wage Question

Building Trades Workers At Pittsburgh Postpone Wage Discussions

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30.—A 30-day truce on the suggested wage clash of building trades workers was in effect today, following prolonged conferences between representatives of building trades unions and the Building Trades Employers association.

By agreement, the whole matter of wage reduction was postponed until February 1. Meantime, negotiations regarding wage scales will be continued and Joseph H. Duty, president of the building trades council, expressed hope that the matter may be settled amicably.

Culbertsons Hold To Large Lead In Contract Tourney

Sidney Lenz Chooses Commander Liggett As His Partner In Bridge Tilt

Ely Culbertson Reproaches Wife For Six Spade Bid, She Makes It

(The following description of last night's play in the Culbertson-Lenz bridge match was expressly written for International News Service by Josephine Culberson, wife of Ely Culbertson and with him originator of the approach-forcing system of contract bidding.)

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON
World's Greatest Woman Bridge Player
Copyright, 1931, By International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—An evening of rather drab and uninteresting hands was relieved by one spectacular rubber and one quite interesting hand, which brought the fifteenth session of the 150 rubber match between my husband and Sidney S. Lenz to a close last night.

The feature of this hand was the forcing rebid after opening the bidding with one spade. This resulted in a game contract in no trump, which ended the rubber.

The hand:
East—dealer.
Both Sides Vulnerable.
Part Score: North-South 60.

North: Lenz
S—None
H—10 7 6 4 3
D—Q 8 5 4
C—Q J 6 5

West:	East:
Culbertson	Mrs. Culbertson
S—9 8 7	S—A Q 5 4 2
H—K J 5	H—A Q 8
D—7 2	D—A J 10 9 3
C—A K 8 3 2	C—None

South: Liggett
S—K J 10 6 3
H—9 2
D—K 6
C—10 9 7 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 Spade	Pass	2 Clubs	Pass
3 Diam.	Pass	3 N. T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Take Two Tricks.

The only tricks made by our opponents were two diamond tricks, one spadetrick and a heart.

Had our opponents elected to defend one hand by an overbid it would have cost them only 200 points as we could have taken a total of 5 tricks in defense. For this paltry figure a game could have been saved and the stage would not have been set for the hand which came immediately after and ended the rubber.

South—Dealer.
East-West Vulnerably.

North: Lentz
S—J 10 7 2
H—K J 9 8 5
D—J 4
C—Q 10

West:	East:
Culbertson	Mrs. Culbertson
S—K 6 3	S—A Q 9 5 4
H—A	H—Q 10 7
D—Q 10 6 2	D—A 3
C—J 7 6 3 2	C—A K 9

South: Liggett
S—8
H—6 4 3 2
D—K 9 8 7 5
C—8 5 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 Spade
Pass	3 Spades	Pass	6 Spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Reproached By Husband

When I bid six spades, Ely inquired in a reproachful tone, "Sweet, can't you take a joke?"

"Not when we are vulnerable," I replied.

Commander Liggett opened a singleton trump and thus made easy the fulfilment of the contract, which would, against another opening, have proved impossible unless I were so fortunate as to guess the exact distribution of the hand.

I think the trump opening, holding only one, is subject to criticism, although perhaps not the strong condemnation of Mr. Lenz, who told his partner that he would "rather lose a game than open a trump."

Grove City Fire Chief Long On Job

Has Served Mercer County Borough As Fire Fighter For Forty Years

GROVE CITY, Dec. 30—For forty years chief of the Grove City fire department is the record hung out by Chris Ruffing with the completion of 1931. Ruffing is the only fire chief ever elected in Grove City He has served the department since its organization.

Ruffing reports three epochs in the fire fighting game in the community. When first instituted the chief commanded a bucket brigade that fought and ate smoke while a human chain of bucket handlers from the nearest pump tried to extinguish the fire. With the institution of a municipal water works, Ruffing and his firemen were equipped with a hose cart. Fires were still reached on foot and continued to be until within the last 15 years when the borough secured a fully equipped motor driven truck, engine and chemical tank.

WINS CONTEST

Betty Perrine was the winner of the girls group in the recent contest conducted by the Grove City Library Club. The contest was held during National Book Week, November 15-21.

David Anderson was the winner of the same contest and under same conditions in the boys division. Pupils for this contest were limited to those of the seventh and eighth grades.

The two winners were allowed to make choice of desired books that were recently presented to them at the club meeting held at the home of Mrs. Rea Walters.

"Anne of Green Gables" was the choice of the girl and "The Last of the Mohicans" that of the boy.

"Pug" Rentner Is Slightly Wounded By Gun Discharge

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 30.—Ernest "Pug" Rentner knows all the tricks of handling a football, but Northwestern's all-American halfback was in a hospital today with part of one finger missing because he fumbled a pistol.

He was rushed to Evanston hospital last night after an accidentally discharged bullet had severed part of the little finger of his left hand. The gridiron star had been shooting a pistol into the air just for amusement and the weapon was discharged while he was loading it.

Work Continued On State Roads

Work of grading state roads in the county is being continued by men from the local branch of the State Highway Department. Two miles of road is being graded on the Hog Hollow road, north of West Pittsburg near the McKee schoolhouse.

Two miles of road is being graded on a stretch from the Ellwood City road to the Portersville road. In Plaingrove township grading is going on from the end of the macadamized road north toward Brent.

Plunged to Death

Hold Two After Pleas Are Made In Robbery Case

Edward Stevens, colored, this city, is in the Lawrence county jail today and Kalim George, also of this city, is free on a $1,000 bail pending the March term of criminal court, following a hearing on charges of highway robbery before Anderman L. C. Mantz. Both plead guilty to the charges.

It is charged that both participated in a holdup along the Mt. Jackson highway on September 28.

County authorities made the arrests and filed the charges.

Special Service Thursday Night

A Social And Watch Night Service Will Be Held At First Congregational Church

A social and watch night service will be held at the First Congregational church on East Reynolds street on New Years eve. It will start at 9 o'clock. A splendid program will be carried out, including selections by the young men's chorus and the ladies' chorus. There will be a number of others take part. The committee in charge is working hard and the affair promises to be very successful.

MARBLE WANTED IN NEW POSTOFFICE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30.—In the hope of persuading the treasury department to construct Youngstown's new postoffice and federal building of Georgia marble instead of limestone or sandstone, a group of local men, headed by Ben Agler, president of the chamber of commerce, and W. A. Mason, former county Republican chairman, is in Washington today. Bids on the new building were opened yesterday. The lowest bid for marble construction is only $40,000 above the low bid for sandstone. All low bids are considerably below the treasury estimates and the local men are using this as a further argument for marble.

HITCH-HIKERS ROB THEIR BENEFACTOR

CLARION, Pa., Dec. 30—Police throughout this section are searching for a yellow roadster stolen after night from Edward Kiefer of near here by a man and woman hitch-hiking their way to Clarion. Kiefer stopped and gave them a lift. After the car had gone two miles they held up Kiefer at the point of a revolver took his wallet with $50 and his overcoat, then told him to "beat it."

State Road Men View Span Here

Official Party Comes Tuesday To Inspect Bridge Over Mahoning

State highway department officials, it was learned today, were here Tuesday to make an inspection of the Mahoning river bridge on route 18, below the seventh ward, and the immediate grounds surrounding.

The party traveled in two department cars.

No definite purpose for their visit could be established here, although it is known that the present bridge will be substituted some time in the future by a more adequate span. Their visit probably concerned the preliminary investigations that always precede any project which involves the state.

Ambassador Dawes Starts Homeward

Dawes Leaves London Bound For United States—Will Confer With Hoover

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 30. — American Ambassador Charles G. Dawes left London today to return home to the United States.

His trip to the United States supposedly is being made to confer with President Hoover on the International Debts situation.

Mayne Will Head Relief Committee

When Mayor-elect Charles B. Mayne is handed the gavel next Monday by Mayor William H. Gillespie, he will preside as the city's chief executive for the first time and in addition to that he will automatically become head of the mayor's relief committee with J. K. Love as executive chairman.

Mayne's feeling for the relief committee was typified recently during council meeting when the question of donation of salary to the city was discussed.

He was asked:

"Are the lower paid clerks to return a day's salary to the city, too?"

"I was thinking of persons who receive around $1,800 a year along the donation matter. I might have some of the lower paid clerks help the mayor's relief committee."

New Police Car May Be Needed

It is probable that one of the first purchases that Charles B. Mayne may have to make when he becomes mayor is to buy a new police automobile. According to reports to council, the small touring car is "shot" and the city mechanician has had trouble in the past fixing the brakes of the larger car.

When the question of a new small car was discussed recently Mr. Mayne told colleagues he would not need an appropriation as $4,000 had been allotted to the contingent fund. He indicated that if it were necessary to secure a new car he would find enough money in the contingent fund to replace the small car.

Officers Given Economy Orders

Constables Told Not To Summon More Witnesses Than Necessary

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Constables of Washington county have been told by the county commissioners that they must join in the economy program for the coming year. The most important request by the commissioners is that the officers take their prisoners to the nearest alderman or justice of the peace. At present they often travel a long distance to take a prisoner before a favored official. The commissioners think a large savings would result in mileage. Constables are also told they must not summon witnesses other than those who are really material. Frequently a large number are summoned in minor cases, officials declare.

When you hear a man yearning for the good old liquor of other days, what he really wants is the good young stomach of other days.

Real Estate Men To Urge Tax Cut

Will Hold Open Conference With Council Thursday Afternoon On Matter

Charging that the real estate business has been hard hit, members of the New Castle Real Estate Board, at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon, made plans to wait upon the members of City Council, the School Board, and the County Commissioners, and to urge upon them the absolute necessity of reducing taxes to a point consistent with present living conditions.

The first of these conferences with the governing boards of the city, school district, and county, will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the city council chambers, when members of council will be met. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Chairman H. M. Leach named a committee consisting of J. Clyde Gilfillan, William M. Nunn, Harry M. Long, H. G. Coates, Robert M. Hainer, and Dave Angell to represent the real estate board at the session Thursday afternoon.

A committee consisting of M. K. Gilliland, William V. Rhodes, and Joe Green was named to take charge of publicity.

Not only has the real estate business been affected because of overburdensome taxation, the real estate men claim, but home owners as well have been forced to carry an obligation that they can no longer assume.

They hope to make their arguments to members of city council, the school board, and board of county commissioner so convincing that they will make every effort to cut taxation to the bone during the coming year.

Another meeting of the Real Estate Board will be held on January 15, but in the meantime, the members of the committee expect to hold conferences with the school board and county commissioners on the same question.

BUTLER REDUCES CITY TAX RATE

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 30—The tax rate here was reduced one mill to 9.5 mills upon orders of city council. Despite the fact that property values have decreased $500,000 during the depression, city officials ordered the cut declaring that economy program would balance the budget.

CONSTABLE MEE ILL IN SHEEP HILL HOME

Arthur M. Mee, Taylor township deputy constable of Sheep Hill roads is ill at his home with the grip. He has been confined to his bed for the last week, friends who inquired about his condition were informed today.

The deficit is doing some good. Many people are learning that it isn't pronounced "defy-sit."

In Death Plunge Mystery

Although a coroner's jury decided that Claude A. Moore, 37-year-old student diplomat and graduate of West Point, plunged to his death from the window of a Washington, D. C., hotel with suicidal intent, his friends refuse to believe that he wilfully ended his own life. Above at left is Mrs. Ethel Taylor, pretty New York divorcee, who was present at the Christmas party during which Moore made the fatal leap. Mrs. Moore, the widow, is shown at right. She is the daughter of the late Adolph Gobel, multi-millionaire sausage king, and is now a resident in Nice, France.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Birthday Party For Vida Mullen

Eleventh Birthday Honored By Party; Other News Notes Of Interest

The hours from 2 to 4 Monday afternoon were spent in a delightful party when a group of Vida Mullen's friends gathered on North Liberty street in honor of her 11th birthday anniversary.

Games of many sort were interesting diversions of the afternoon and each of the guests enjoyed it every minute. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Herbert Mullen assisted by her daughter, Ilene. Places were set for the following guests:

Mary Ellen Shanafelt, Marion Unangst, Ella Ringer, Ruth Taylor, Dorothy Hackett, Larue Blanton, Laura Mae Martin, Imogene King, Patsy Cushion, Jane Bollinger, Betty Alexander, June Wilson, Ida Castrucci, Rita Reichert, Ilene, Herbie and Vida Mullen.

Observations In 7th Ward

Some stories of pre-prohibition days concerning notorious characters who woke up quite frequently in the old Mahoningtown jail were being re-told yesterday afternoon. Mention of the jail brings to light the interesting fact that it was located in the basement of the seventh ward fire department building on East Cherry street.

The two cells are still standing and appear to be in fine shape and ready to serve if ever the occasion should demand. They are securely locked and no one has rested on the rather uncomfortable looking beds for quite a number of years—ever since use of cellars for jail cells was abandoned.

These vacation days are being spent by a large percentage of the local lads in marble playing. Groups are seen at every corner where there is a small strip of uncovered soil available. In order that their knuckles do not get dirty, some of the boys have contrived the clever idea of donning their mothers' gloves on their right hands. They find it more satisfactory to amputate the fingers of the gloves.

OFFICERS MEETING
An officers meeting is scheduled for this evening at the Madison Avenue Christian church. The officers meet regularly to care for plans of activities and various business matters.

MEETING TODAY
This is the meeting day for members of the G. I. A. No. 453, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. They will gather in the city building.

MEETING TONIGHT
Members of the Willing Workers of the Presbyterian church will meet in the church this evening at about 8 o'clock.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY
The meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Madison Avenue Christian church, scheduled for Friday afternoon, January 1, at the home of Mrs. Walter Waid, has been postponed until Friday, January 8. On that date Mrs. Waid will receive the members at her home at 813 West Clayton street.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS
Oliver Hockman of West Madison avenue, is visiting relatives in Keyser, W. Va.

Miss Vivian Jones, of North Liberty street, is spending the week with her aunt in Hubbard, O.

Compulsory Insurance Visioned As Best Form Of Unemployment Help

Senator Wagner Urges "Abandonment Of Breadline And Rejection Of The Handout" In Favor Of Nation-Wide Solution

By ROBERT F. WAGNER
U. S. Senator From New York

The time has come for us, as civilized men and women, to abandon the breadline and to reject the handout as the solution of the problem of unemployment.

It is universally recognized that the obligation rests upon society to make sure that the unemployed do not go cold and hungry. The alternative is between charity and unemployment insurance or reserves. When I weigh the effect of charity upon character and morale, I have no hesitation in making my choice in favor of insurance.

Compulsory insurance should provide incentives for the stabilization of employment and should protect the mobility of the worker and his freedom of action.

The individual company system, in which benefits depended upon time of employment in a particular establishment and where benefits were forfeited with loss of employment, had the tendency to fasten the employe to his job and to destroy his willingness to change his employment even where it would be conductive to his self-improvement.

The advantage of having unemployment insurance statewide and nationwide is that it can be arranged to have the benefits follow the worker from job to job.

If there is danger to the labor movement in a system of unemployment insurance, it arises out of the system of voluntary company reserves which reduces the employe's quitting power and weakens his bargaining power. An established system of compulsory unemployment insurance would give the labor unions a real stake in the management of business, an object to see that it was administered in the interest of justice and fair play.

Treser Would Reduce Candlepower Of Lights

During the budget making meeting of councilmen and officials-elect when the cost of illuminating the streets of the city was discussed Councilman Stanley Treser presented a plan which, according to Treser, would lower the cost materially. However, Louis Round, vice president of the Pennsylvania Power company, said it would be impossible without changing equipment to put through the entire plan. Under the five years contract, which expires in 1935, the changing of equipment would be a considerable expense.

According to Treser's plan, it would leave the 960 lights of 250 candlepower the same candlepower but cut down the candlepower of all the rest of the lights. Washington street lights would be decreased from 1,000 to 600 candlepower which would change the rate per year per light from $95 to $75.

The 250 candlepower lights now cost the city $37.50; 66 pendants, $65 each; 600 ornamental overhead, $70 each; 600 candlepower, ornamental posts, $75 each; 1,000 candlepower ornamental lamps, $95 each. The lights in Liberty and Cherry streets and Long avenue cost $75 each a year and Mahoning avenue viaduct $37.50 each per year.

The equipment on high candlepower lights is not suitable for 250 candlepower lights, it is reported. According to company officials the line current passes directly through the lamp in the 250 size, requiring an entirely different hookup from that of the 600 size.

In the 600 candlepower size the line current is passed through a small transformer on top of the pole. The wires to the lamp are the only low voltage and are passed down the pole to the mast arm entering in a loop to the lamp to permit easy replacement.

It would require very material changes in construction, it is said. However, 1,000 candlepower lights can be reduced to 600 candlepower or 600 candlepower to 400 candlepower but the change from high to low, 1,000 to 400 candlepower, again involves a change of equipment, it is said.

The contract with the Pennsylvania Power company was made for five years and expires in 1935. The exact number of lights in the city, it is reported, is 1617 and the contract calls for a minimum of 1300. By reducing the candlepower it might be possible to effect a saving of perhaps $7,500 to $10,000 annually, it is reported.

The new schedule of decreased candlepower asked by city council will be presented by Vice President Louis Round some time this week for consideration of council.

Drunken Motorist Jailed For Death Of Man On Highway

(International News Service)

RIDGWAY, Pa., Dec. 30.—Police today were holding Ed Van Alstine, of Wilcox, Pa., at the Elk county jail in connection with the death of Thomas Myers, 41, of this city, pending a hearing following the verdict of an inquest held is announced.

Van Alstine is alleged to have been the driver of a hit-and-run car which sideswiped the truck of Thomas Myers, resulting in the latter's death.

Myers was crushed to death when the truck toppled over, pinning him beneath.

Police said Van Alstine was intoxicated when they arrested him but knew nothing of the accident.

Bootleg Gang Warfare Blamed For Fatal Shooting In Apartment Basement

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30.—Bootleg gang warfare broke out again here today with the slaying of an unidentified still tender as he was working in the basement of a South Side brewery, police said.

The man was killed instantly by slugs from a double-barreled shotgun which had been fired through a window. He was shot in the back.

Members of the family living in the residence part of the building above the brewery said they knew the victim only as "Tom" and that the basement of the building had been rented by a man unknown to them.

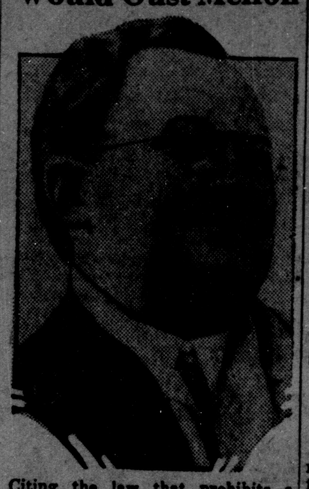
Would Oust Mellon



Citing the law that prohibits a Secretary of the Treasury from being directly or indirectly interested in trade or commerce, Representative Wright Patmen, Democrat, of Texas, has stated that within three days of the reconvening of Congress he will introduce a resolution seeking the impeachment of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon. Representative Patmen considers Mr. Mellon's connection with banking and industry makes him ineligible.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

On the face of the figures, the agricultural section of the present tariff law has done about what was expected of it.

The last revision of the tariff started as an effort to give farmers protection on the various raw materials they grow. It went far beyond that before congress was through with it, but primarily it was a revision in the interest of agriculture. Nearly all tariff rates on farm products were "listed" and what congress left out has been supplied since by the work of the tariff commission.

And these rates were not only 'protective" but farm interests hoped they would prove prohibitive. They wanted—and still want—foreign raw materials kept out of this country They make no bones about it. They want United States farmers to have a monopoly of the United States market as far as this is possible.

* * *

The figures of imports for the first full year of the present tariff came out recently, and show a cut of almost a half in farm product imports.

To be exact, leaving out coffee, tea, rubber and wood products, imports in 1928-29 were 2,243 millions of dollars, and this last year had fallen to 1,167 millions. Part of the drop, to be sure, was because of the slump in prices. The volume of imports has not fallen in the same proportion as the value in dollars.

But there has been a great decrease in actual physical volume of farm imports, that is plain, and it is more significant when you recall that foreign countries are more anxious than ever to sell their agricultural products here. Depression or no depression our 123,000,000 population still is the richest and most valuable market in the world

* * *

Personally, I have a low opinion of all tariffs, agricultural and manufacturing. But when a law is passed to do a certain job, right or wrong, I believe in giving credit when it appears that the law is getting the results expected of it.

WHAT NEW CASTLE SCHOOLS ARE DOING

Under the general caption of "Know Your School Series," a series of bulletins has been prepared by various teachers of the New Castle schools dealing with the activities of the schools.

Each bulletin deals with some particular phase of school life in this city and the entire series can be classed as a full description of the school curriculum here.

Here is one of the series.

THE SWIMMING POOL
By Daniel A. Carroll

Swimming has long been recognized as a most desirable and beneficial form of exercise. There is a general popular attest to this statement as evidenced by the collection of popular literature stressing the benefits of swimming and the growth of the sport itself. Statistics, too, show that there is general acceptance of this fact by educators. There has been a distinctly modern acceleration of wholesome participation in aquatics and an increasing public confidence in the reality of the benefits derived. Swimming and diving, just as any other activity of the physical education program, need the results of careful scientific inquiry to substantiate general opinions and conceptions. Numerous organizations are now ranking swimming and diving foremost among their activities. The principal reason for this seems to be on account of its value in relation to leisure time, and its adaptability for all ages and both sexes.

The two swimming pools under the supervision of the New Castle Public School System are located in the George Washington Junior High School and the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School. They are of standard size, modern as to construction and equipment, and operated by engineers who thoroughly understand the operation of their respective pools. Every precaution is being used by them to safeguard the health of those using the swimming pool.

Each member of every class is inspected after taking a shower bath for grime and any type of visible infection. If the student has either of the above he is not permitted to use the pool.

The instructors in charge of the swimming pools must be certified as a teacher by the State Education Department, be an American Red Cross Life Saving Examiner, and qualified to teach swimming and diving.

With the exception of those students forbidden to take swimming by their doctors, the Franklin Junior High and the Washington Junior High Schools have less than two percent of their students going to the Senior High School who cannot swim.

In motivating the work at our swimming pools we use methods to stimulate interest in and provide satisfaction for students of all levels of ability, thus promoting their desires for further activity.

The successful motivating devices used in swimming instructions are: (1) Publicity; (2) Games; (3) Competition; (4) Marathon Swimming; (5) Clubs; and (6) Tests.

The desirable features of swimming and diving are usually stated as having to do with contributing to education through the cannels of:

1. Physiological Benefits—muscles, nerves, heart, lungs, and organs in general.
2. Hygienic Benefits—cleanliness of skin, nails, etc.
3. Psychological Benefits—qualities of courage, pose, mental control and mental relaxation.
4. Recreation—immediately useful and activities which remain so throughout life regardless of age of sex. Activities which are also open to all for a minimum of cost wherever there is water.
5. Protection—Learning to swim is the surest way to prevent accidental death by drowning and in addition the development of watermanship ability offers the possible opportunity of saving the life of others.
6. Locomotion—emphasized as one of the important ways of man to overcome the disadvantages of natural barriers in the form of rivers and lakes. A desirable locomotive skill for many reasons.

For these reasons, which are found in popular literature, swimming and diving are vigorously promoted.

It has been noted by research workers in the field of education that the people's leisure time periods are occupied to a great extent by motor activities. Of these activities swimming rates among the highest. Skill and proficiency in this are intimately related to the enjoyment of the activity, and hence to its continued use.

"The more young people we can teach to swim, the more individuals we will add to society who have learned something for other than economic reasons. Education for enjoyment and education for fine living are not in need of defense. One has only to observed the mistaken zeal of those who think of life in terms of financial regards, trusting somehow that later on, when success comes, happiness may be bought."

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—School teachers in Vanderbilt, Dawson, Perry township, Dunbar and Dunbar township today announced they would contribute one day's salary each to local relief funds.

A sum exceeding $2,000 was expected to be gathered. Similar action was expected from other districts, school officials said.

PLAN WORK FOR FARMERS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND.—Cattle raising in northern Ohio on a large scale for the principal purpose of relieving the unemployed, is the idea of M. F. Bramley, of Cleveland, as a solution for shortening bread lines and reducing charity fund quotas. Many farmers, Bramley said, have moved into the city, increasing the number of jobless. He believes they would be willing to return to the country if a cattle-raising plan was adopted.

ARGUMENTS HEARD IN EQUITY SUIT

Arguments were heard by Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning in the case of O. M. Bilger and O. R. Fink against Hermine Rung. The case grows out of an equity suit filed by plaintiffs in which it is charged that water from a dam built by defendant at Lakewood Beach, backs up over their property. A decision will be handed down later.

FILMS AND STAGE IN BERLIN

(International News Service)

BERLIN.—Statistics covering the theatrical season in Germany from September, 1930, to August, 1931, show that the film has not as yet made any serious inroads on the legitimate stage. On an average 278 theaters played every month during the period covered. This is but 19 fewer than in the preceding year. About 6,000 new manuscripts were submitted by dramatists, but only 340 works were played for the first time, against 402 in 1929-30.

The city council recently drafted an ordinance forbidding the erection of buildings of more than three stories on the city plaza. Sante Fe's apparently unorthodox attitude toward prosperity and growth in the usual sense of the word is based on a desire to preserve one of the oldest cities in the country in just the form it was built hundreds of years ago.

THE PROSPERITY OF THE PIOUS

How happy is the man who has not walked in the counsel of the wicked,
Nor stood in the way of sinners,
Nor sat in the seat of scoffers!
But his delight is in the law of the Lord,
And in his law does he study day and night.
For he is like a tree planted by streams of water,
That yields its fruit in its season,
And its leaf does not wither;
And whatsoever he does he brings to success.

The wicked are not so;
But are like the chaff which the wind drives away.
Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment,

THE BOOK OF GENESIS

THE STORY OF CREATION, 1:1—2:3

When God began to create the heavens and the earth, the earth was a desolate waste, with darkness covering the abyss and a tempestuous wind raging over the surface of the waters. Then God said,

"Let there be light!"

And there was light; and God saw that the light was good. God then separated the light from the darkness. God called the light day, and the darkness night. Evening came, and morning, the first day.

Then God said,

"Let there be a firmament in the middle of the waters to divide the waters in two!"

And so it was. God made the firmament, dividing the waters that were below the firmament from those that were above it; and God called the firmament sky. Evening came, and morning, the second day.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES GENESIS
1 CHAPTER 1

IN THE beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

Tells How To Recognize Symptoms Of Diphtheria

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A modern text book on medicine says:

"Diphtheria is an endemic disease in larger centers of population. It becomes epidemic especially in the colder seasons of the year. In rural sections and small communities, where the proportion of susceptible individuals is very large, the disease may become quite virulent."

It is a disease, then, of this season of the year. It especially occurs in children under five years of age—80 per cent of all cases occur before the age of ten. It is deadly if not treated. It can nearly always be cured if treated early by antitoxin. Early diagnosis, therefore, is of supreme importance.

How does a parent suspect that diphtheria might have attacked a child? Listlessness fever and sore throat are the triad of warning signals. The sore throat shows a membrane on the tonsils and soft palate. But is you see no membrane, if you see no sore throat when the child is listless and feverish, do not conclude that no diphtheria is present. Often the membrane is in the larynx or in the windpipe or in the nose and cannot be seen except by a doctor with proper examining instruments.

The value of diphtheria antitoxin is strikingly seen in a comparison of the mortality statistics of forty years ago.

In 1890 Chicago had 117 deaths from diphtheria per hundred thousand population.

In 1895 Chicago had 69 deaths from diphtheria per hundred thousand population.

In 1930 Chicago had 12 deaths from diphtheria per hundred thousand population.

Between 1890 and 1895 the deaths from this disease were cut nearly in half. What had occurred? The answer is that diphtheria antitoxin was perfected in 1891. It took some years to educate the public to its value, so we see a gradual decline in the death rate as this process of education progressed. In 1900, for instance, the rate was 34; in 1920 it was 17.

These figures are duplicated in cities all over the country. The decline in the death rate since 1920 may be due to the introduction of methods of preventing diphtheria by artificial immunization with toxin-antitoxin and toxoid.

Further reduction in this death rate, which is still high, depends on recognizing the disease early and prompt administration of antitoxin. The earlier the antitoxin is given the more chance there is for recovery.

Diagnosis can be made positively within an hour by examining the membrance in a throat under the microscope for the presence of diphtheria baicilli.

Pending Bill Would Allow State Millions

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 30.—Uncle Sam would be permitted to spend about $9,000,000 in relief work in Pennsylvania under the provisions of a bill being considered this week by the senate manufactures committee.

The program which would allot the $9,000,000 to the Keystone State is being sponsored by Senator Costigan, Democrat of Colorado. His bill would appropriate $375,000,000 for charity by the Federal government. Of this amount, forty per cent would be distributed to the states upon a basis of population in the event the states agreed to spend one and a half time as much state money, and the remainder would be set aside for emergencies.

Enactment of the measure would mean that Pennsylvania could extract from the federal vaults here about $9,000,000 for relief work in the event she matched this with $13,500,000 from her state treasury for the same type of rehabilitation activities.

Hearings on the Costigan proposal are being held by the manufactures committee this week and the most outstanding social workers are being called to testify. The administration is decidedly opposed to the bill, but its sponsors hope to gather sufficient support for it by having the social workers testify as to the suffering and need in the country.

The children, oldest of whom is 11, will be placed in private institutions, Judge Hirt ordered in passing sentence.

Trinity Church Christmas Program

Gorgeous, costuming, beautiful scenes, and the spirit of Christmas characterized the entertainment Tuesday evening in the Guild Room of Trinity Church, which was under the leadership of the classes in the Church School, taught by Mrs. T. F. Stryker and Miss Mildred J. Gresham.

It was the annual Christmas affair for the pupils of the Church School, their parents and friends.

This is the first time in many years that pupils of the Church School have taken over the giving of the Christmas Entertainment and marks a distinct step in advance in the life of the Parish. Too much credit cannot be given to the young people who were most conscientious in preparation, as well as all who have assisted them.

Those associated in the presentation are:

Virgin Mary—Isabel T. Johnson.

St. Joseph—Howard L. Gresham, Jr.

St. Elizabeth—Thelma R. Hemphill.

St. Anna—Beatrice Norton.

St. Simeon—George H. Beaton.

The Angel Gabriel—A. Irene Hietsch.

Angels—Harriet M. Beaton, Louise J. Genkinger.

Shepherds and Kings—Edwin F. Norris, Benjamin E. Johnson, William E. Mackie.

Readings by Mary Norton.

At the piano—Miss Mildred J. Gresham.

Stage management by Bonita L. Henry.

After the entertainment, a committee of the officers and teachers of the Church School led the boys and girls in games.

Kidnaper Hunted In Buffalo Area

Alleged Ringleaders Of Kidnapers Of Mrs. Donnelly Hunted In Buffalo

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The nation-wide search for the kidnapers of Mrs. Nellie Donnelly, millionaire Kansas City manufacturer, centered here today with reports that Martin Depew, 40, alleged leader of the abducting gang, was hiding in the vicinity.

Police were checking a telegam signed "Ethel" sent to Frank Walters, a farmer at Brockton, near here, which allegedly was sent by the wife of Depew. The message read: "We will be there."

Police said Mrs. Depew was Walter's sister. Police also checked reports that Depew stayed over night here Monday at a rooming house.

Football Is Not Over-Emphasized

Report Filed With Coaches By Lou Little, Upholds Gridiron Game

More Time Spent By Students In Debating And Student Publications

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Critics who have been saying that football is "over emphasized" at the colleges should turn their attention to debating, student publications or dramatics.

A special committee headed by Lou Little, Columbia coach, was choosen a year ago to study the question of overemphasis and to report on the time spent by football players at the game. Little made his report to the annual meeting of the football coaches and he revealed that a college student who plays football spends on an average of 109 hours a year at the game.

Students who engage in college debating spend 111 hours; crew men use 186 hours; student editors spend 241 hours at their work, while those who rehearse and take part in dramatic productions spend 132 hours on the stage, according to Little's figures.

Football Ranks Sixth.

Four hundred colleges were questioned and as a result the committee headed by Little discovered that as far as actual time spent on extra curriculum Activities, football ranks but sixth in the list.

These figures are based on time spent during the season. The committee reported that as far as time spent out of season was concerned football ranked but fourteenth.

"Only two sports," the report continued "occupy less time out of season than football. Baseball and hockey are the sports."

The questionnaire sent to the 400 colleges was an elaborate one which considered every activity that a college student takes part in. It also considered the question of spring practice. 152 coaches said they were in favor of it; 20 said they were for it with conditions; while 43 were against it.

No Monopoly Of Time.

The whole report tended to show that football did not take a disproportionment amount of time from other activities.

In addition to Little, the committee consisted of Charles Bachman, University of Florida, Alvin McMillan, Kansas Agricultural College, Noble Kizer, Purdue University, and Paul Schissler of Oregon.

Urge Pinchot To Retain Present Game Commission

Connellsville Isaak Walton League Urge Commission's Retention

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Members of the Connellsville chapter of the Izaak Walton League today awaited a reply from Gov. Gifford Pinchot to their telegram to the chief executive urging him to refuse acceptance of resignations from members of the state game commission.

"Follow your public announcement by keeping politics out of the commission. It has done an outstanding conservation job largely because of freedom from political intereference," the telegram read.

"Sportsmen feel justified in making this request as the license funds alone support the commission."

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

The Christmas season is as good as any other part of the year to bring back recollections of the past in this city, in fact it is the very best time of year to recall incidents that have occurred in the city. And to Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher of 1308 Cunningham avenue and the members of the family, the very best way to do this is through the medium of the annual Christmas tree and especially the trimmings that hang on the tree, which is ever present in the Fletcher home at this season of the year. This year in the corner of the diningroom is a large tree decorated in a very pretty manner and its trimmings are unique, in that hanging on it are trimmings that graced the first Christmas tree of Mrs. Fletcher and also each of her three children and now one of her grandchildren. On the tree are some balls, drums and other trimmings that were on the first tree in the life of Mrs. Fletcher, just fifty-four years ago. They are made of a tissue or crepe paper and stuffed with cotton. There are also representations of angels and other Christmas ideas that are just as old and a star of Bethlehem that once graced the tree with a candle in it and is now lighted with an electric light. All of these were brought from England by the mother of Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. J. D. Bell of St. Louis, Mo., and hung on the first Christmas tree of Mrs. Fletcher. There are also on the tree this year two cone shaped paper contrivances in which there is still the candy that was in them thirty-six years ago, when the oldest son of the family, Thomas Fletcher beheld his first tree. On the tree are also decorations that graced the family tree on the first Christmas of Hubert, another son, and Marie, the daughter and youngest child of the family, also of a grandson, William Fletcher, aged 11. Among the reminders of past Christmases at the Fletcher home, is the high chair of Marie, the youngest of the family, who is now nineteen years of age and in the chair is a doll received eight years ago by her from her brother, Hubert, who was then in St. Louis, Mo. It was the largest doll he could find in that city and is 34 inches in height, has long curly human hair and is dressed in clothes and is wearing shoes of its owner, when she was a small girl of the same size. In fact there is everything about the tree to remind the members of the Fletcher family of the happiest times in their lives.

Dr. Galbreath Eighth Westminster Head

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—The election of the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath as president of Westminster College marks the eighth administration at the United Presbyterian school in 80 years.

Founded in 1852 as Westminster Collegiate Institute in New Wilmington, then a part of Mercer county, Westminster has had only seven presidents in its first 80 years.

The Rev. Dr. James Patterson was the first president elected, serving from 1853 until 1867. Dr. Robert Audley Browne became president in 1868 and served until 1871. The third leader was the Rev. Dr. Eliakim T. Jefferies, president from 1872 to 1883.

John K. McClurkin, D. D., became president in 1883 and served until 1884. Dr. Robert G. Ferguson was the fifth leader, serving from 1884 until 1906. Dr. Robert M. Russell was president from 1906 until 1915.

Dr. W. Charles Wallace became president in 1916 and served until 1931, a period of 15 years. Dr. Ferguson's administration, lasting 22 years, was the longest of any of the seven presidents.

Dr. Galbreath will take office, then, as the eighth president of the college in the eighteenth year of the institution's history.

Believe Relief Will Come From Congress Soon

COMMUNITY CHEST DIRECTOR SPEAKS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Members of the senate committee on unemployment today expressed the belief that congress would authorize direct appropriation of federal aid for the unemployed as a result of the Community Chest organization's admittance of such need.

This admittance, made by Allen T. Burns, director of the Community Chests, and close to Mr. Hoover, was hailed as sufficient to shatter any opposition in congress to direct federal aid, regardless of President Hoover's personal attitude.

The president is bitterly opposed to anything approaching a dole. Outright federal appropriation for relief of the unemployed would fall little short of the dole system, but Republican leaders have said they would support direct treasury appropriations if the necessity for such aid was proven.

Almost every witness who has appeared before the unemployment committee has warned that hundreds of thousands face starvation this winter unless federal relief is forthcoming.

OFFICERS ARRIVE IN TIME TO SAVE MAN'S CHICKENS

Officers H. E. Richards and Robert Letera arrived on the scene at 109 East Long avenue just in time about 3 a. m. today to prevent the theft of at least a part and possibly all of the chickens of Charley Jim at that address.

They came upon two colored men in the act of stealing the chickens and when they saw the officers, they ran and made good their escape. They had already killed two chickens, but failed to take them in their hurry to make their getaway.

More Money Added To Mayor's Fund

Several Additional Contributions Received For Relief Work Today

More money was added to the Mayor's Relief fund today, bringing the total to $5,673.41.

Among the amounts subscribed was $27.08 from the Sears, Roebuck and Company and employes, the company matching the gift of the employes, as they did last month.

Quite a large amount of money will be needed to carry out the work of the committee during the balance of the winter and local residents who have not yet given are asked to bring or send their contribution to City Treasurer L. W. McClung, who is treasurer of the fund.

May Be New Chief According To Rumor

Rumors are current that there will be a change in the office of the chief of police when the present term expires. As yet no definite statement has been issued by officials.

It is rumored that among those considered for the position are M. J. Young, William Tyrell, John Young and Thomas Jones. Providing a chance occurs as the rumor states, Chief Horner would return to his former position as a member of the detective staff, it is said.

Government is consistent. Having passed an anti-trust law, it won't combine its own departments to eliminate waste.

Capt. Hamilton To Be Troop's Guest

French Foreign Legion Man, Here For Visit, To Attend Trinity Dinner

Capt. Edgar G. Hamilton, of the French Foreign Legion, which has been active in Morroco, and a former New Castle boy, will be the guest of honor at the supper for Troop 55 Boy Scouts this evening in the Guild room of Trinity Episcopal church at 6:30 o'clock. The request will be given and prepared by the Men's club of the church under the leadership of Donald F. Copson, first vice president. Members of the troop committee will be present.

Following the supper at 7:30 p. m., as many members of the Men's club who can arrange to do so on such short notice, are asked to come to the Guild room to meet Capt. Hamilton.

At 8 o'clock, under the direction of Messrs. T. Gwyn Lewis, Scoutmaster and Joseph W. Pearson, assistant scoutmaster, a demonstration of scout craft will be given for the benefit of the Men's club, parents, friends, and all in Trinity church interested in the future of this city and country. Admission is free. Troop 55 has made steady advancement, is prepared, and will have a great deal that is of interest to show. A large audience is expected.

Mid-Year Session On January 26

Efficiency Conference To Take Place At Y. W. C. A.—Bonsall To Speak

The Mid-Year Efficiency Conference of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will be held at the Y. W. C. A., in this city, Thursday, January 28, 1932, and the staff representative that will be present at that time is E. H. Bonsall, Young People's Superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association.

Mr. Bonsall is well known to the young people of Lawrence county, especially those attending the state camps where he has been an instructor for the past number of years.

At this Mid-Year Conference there will be two sessions, and afternoon session and Christian fellowship dinner in the evening. Both of these sessions are for county and district officers, ministers, Sabbath School superintendents and others interested in Christian education.

There will be a shield awarded to the district having the best percentage of officers and departmental superintendents present, and in case any officer or superintendent of a district cannot be present, a substitute can be sent and this will be counted in making up the percentage for making the award.

Rev. E. C. Anderson Resigns Pastorate

Christian And Missionary Alliance Pastor Will Go To Louisville, Kentucky

Rev. E. C. Anderson, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Pearson street, for the past four years, tendered his resignation to the board at their monthly meeting Monday evening to take effect January 28.

Rev. Anderson preached his first sermon for the local congregation October 16, 1927, and will preach his farewell sermon on January 24.

During his pastorate here Rev. Anderson has made much progress both spiritually and materially, for the church and Mrs. Anderson has been a great help-mate for him in the work.

He has accepted a call to Louisville, Ky.

Boy Scout News

Race About Ended

Thursday at midnight will bring to an end one of the most enthusiastic three-month-long troop efficiency contests ever to be sponsored by the Lawrence County Boy Scout council. For several years now the race has provided spice galore for the last quarter's program of the county organization.

While West Pittsburg leads the others in the race, threats of a dangerous character have been hurled by rival troops whose point scores won't be low by any means. It remains until the clocks peels in 1932 tomorrow for the winner to be known.

Scout Executive Herbert Horton, his deputy commissioner and other leaders have directed the contests with the view of injecting new life and improvements for weak spots in troops that are hoping to develop more.

Handsome loving cups, the gift of the council, will go to the winning Boy Scout troop. They are to be presented at the annual anniversary dinners of both the New Castle and Ellwood City districts in February. Separate trophies are to be awarded in the two districts.

The contests points are secured by injuecting more efficiency into different phases of the scouting program.

THREE NEW CASES OF MEASLES HERE

Three new cases of measles today were reported to the department of health officer, Dr. W. L. Steen. The patients are: Ralph Feres, six, of 807 DuShane street; Doris Stoner, six, of 1049 Beckford street, and Mona Thomas, seven, of 716 Superior street.

Prosperity is like happiness. It just happens when you get busy and forget about it.

HEY, MR. TUNNEY, LOOK AT THIS!

Gene Tunney isn't the only former boxing champion who has gone in for culture in a large way. Today we have Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, former light heavyweight champion and physical culture expert, practicing on his violin for his first concert in New York in January. O'Brien says he will play classical music only.

Close To 75 Win Honors At Court

Upper-County Boy Scouts Before High Tribunal; Ceremony Colorful

Marked by one of the largest attendances in years, the December court of honor for Boy Scouts of the New Castle district was impressively observed last night in the First Christian church on the public square, with a group of over 75 deserving youths as the recipients of honors.

The Rev. G. S. Bennett, the church's pastor and chairman of the Lawrence county council's court of honor division, presided last night with fellow members. They included Scout Commissioner Ralph Davis, Dr. R. C. Lutz, Harry Culliford, and Scout Executive Herbert G. Horton, who served as secretary.

Parents See Tribute

Parents and friends of the hard-working boys who have devoted hours to test work during the past few weeks, witnessed the colorful ceremony that brought advancement to every scout called before the council's high tribunal.

A feature was the showing of three comic travelogues and another reel, entitled "Sailors of the Air". Scoutmaster Sidney Smith projected the films through the cooperation of Chief Boatswain's Mate Harry Allison, local recruiting officer for the navy, and John R. Boyles, who donated the projector.

Applicants Plentiful

So large was the list of scouts that received deserving promotions in rank last night that the scout office here was unable to provide a complete list this morning. However, a full list will appear about Saturday.

Several Life and Star rank scouts were honored last night, but no Eagle rank—the highest in Scoutdom—was conferred.

Last night's program brought the twelfth court of honor of the north district of the county to a close, one having been held each month during 1931. They are held monthly in accordance with a schedule outlined by national headquarters.

Tonight, the Ellwood City district will hold its final honor court for the year. It will occur in the Shelby club in Ellwood at 7:30 o'clock.

Donohan Taken Back To Prison

Man Who Lived In Mortal Fear Of Death By Gangsters, Goes Back To Prison

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 30.—Mortal fear of Chicago gang vengeance that had lived with him day and night today had left Clifford Donohan, 38, escaped convict from Leavenworth penitentiary, who was arrested by Buffalo police.

Federal officers claimed him to return to prison to complete a six-year term of which he had served two years when he escaped last October.

Donohan told police he was marked for death by a Chicago bootlegging gang. Two sawed-off shot guns police found in his room were for protection from gang vengeance, he said.

Boys' Clubs Rally At "Y" In Evening

Hundred Expected For Dinner Meeting—Meermans Will Speak

One hundred boys of four boys' clubs of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a dinner rally meeting in the banquet room of the "Y" this evening beginning at 6 p. m. and hear R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the association, who will be the speaker of the evening.

W. A. Thomas, boys' work director, announces that the clubs to take part in the rally are the Hillsville Rangers, Bessemer Boys' Club, Church Club.

Following the dinner and talk, the boys will proceed to the gym where they will enjoy a period of recreation under the direction of Henry T. MacNichols, physical director.

SET NO DAY FOR CAPITAL CONFAB ON POST OFFICE

The W. G. Eckles Company, architects chosen to prepare the city's new post office plans, was not able to announce today just what date its officials would go to Washington, D. C., to confer with U. S. Treasury Department men over the preliminary building sketch.

They were requested a few days ago to send representatives there at a suitable date. It is likely the conference day is only a short time away.

Tennis Queen in Pastures New

Charles Mills Is Confined To Bed

Likely That Injured Fire Fighter Will Receive Compensation

Charles S. Mills, who has been working for months as a city fireman, and whose pay has been held up, which resulted in alternative mandamus proceedings against Controller Phil Greer, is confined to his bed as the result of injuries sustained yesterday in connection with the fighting of a Spruce street house blaze.

For some time council has speculated on the problematical result were Mills to be injured, as his salary has been held up due to the claim of the city controller he was illegally elected.

And now that Mills has sustained injury brings the Mills case to the foreground. He is a volunteer fireman and as compensation covers such cases, according to Chief Lynn, he should receive compensation.

It is likely that the case may cause some discussion when members of council convene in their adjourned meeting Saturday morning as a report of the accident has been made to the city law department.

200 "Demand" Cut In Ashland Taxes

ASHLAND, O., Dec. 30.—Two hundred tax payers attending the annual county budget hearing, today demanded lower taxes.

Most of the protestants were farmers, who represented all section of Ashland County.

It was the first time that a budget hearing has been attended by such a group.

The tax payers attacked the county agricultural extension department, the county health department and the county fair as unnecessary. They urged general cuts of salaries of county officials, deputies and clerks.

Ashland County's budget in 1932, in the face of decreased revenue, will call for the same rate of taxation as this year.

KAISER GETS BILL FOR CARE OF HOG

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—The British treasury is reported to have sent a bill for 7 pounds sterling at par ($33) to ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II for keep of the kaiser's brood-sow "taken prisoner" by the British during the war. The matter has been on the books as unsettled business since 1914, and the subject of negotiations since 1919.

According to the report the caretaker of the imperial domain in the spring of 1914 put in an order for a first-class brood-sow. Representatives of the kaiser purchased a blue-ribbon winner in England, and paid spot cash for it. The costly animal was ready for shipment just as war was declared. Due to the embargo the sow remained in the piggery until 1915 when it and a lot of its brothers and sisters were killed by a bomb dropped by a German Zeppelin in an air raid on London.

After the war the ex-kaiser sought to gain his pig on an equitable compensation. British authorities far from accepting liability for the loss turned around and sought to collect the bill of the piggery owner for food and shelter of the sow from 1914 to 1915. The owner asserted that it was no fault of his the delivery was not effected.

CALF BORN WITH FACE LIKE THAT OF BULLDOG

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Dec. 30.—A calf which was born with a face like a bulldog has atracted attention among farmers in Long Prairie Twp.

The animal's lower jaw protrudes like a bulldog, and its nostrils are divided, one appearing on each side of the lower jaw. Although the animal is strong and healthy, it cannot suck milk from its mother and must be fed by hand.

William Becker, the owner, plans to sell the calf for display purposes.

Battlefields Call For Radio, Says U. S. Report

Increasing Use Of Radio For Field Artillery

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—Increasing use of the radio for field artillery communications in time of war was forecast today in the annual report of Major General H. G. Bishop, chief of field artillery of the U. S. army.

The increasing difficulties of maintaining wire lines on the battlefield must force an ever-widening use of radio for communication with the various batteries in time of battle, the report said. This necessity requires more radio training for field artillery personnel in peace time, the report stated.

Excellent practical results were obtained from the use of radio in target practice during the past year. The field artillery has long practiced at moving targets, but hitherto has complained that the targets did not approximate in speed to what may be expected on a modern battlefield. In response to this criticism, a new target has been devised, with a speed up to 45 miles per hour. A method of attacking this speedy target when invisible from the gun positions is being worked out and shortly will be promulgated to the service.

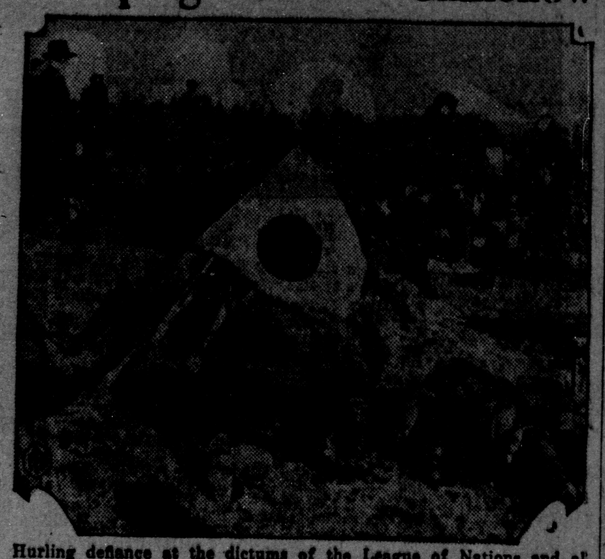
Development of anti-aircraft machine-gun mounts also is being continued, the report said. There is now every reason to believe that a satisfactory carriage mount will soon be produced. In the meantime, tests have been and are still being conducted with the Browning .30-calibre automatic rifle as an anti-aircraft weapon. The .50-calibre machine-gun has been eliminated from consideration for anti-aircraft use for field artillery, due to the superiority of the .30-calibre weapon, the report stated.

BAKERS SUPPLY NEEDY

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS.—No unemployed citizen of St. Louis will be without bread this winter, according to a promise in a resolution recently adopted by the St. Louis Wholesale Baker's club. The fourteen members, representing as many bread and cake bakeries in St. Louis, voted unanimously to furnish bread to all charitable agencies for unemployed applicants.

Sweeping Toward Chinchow



Hurling defiance at the dictums of the League of Nations and all offers of mediation by the United States, England and France, Japan has started the long-feared offensive against Chinchow, the headquarters of what remains of the Chinese regular army in Manchuria. Photo shows some of the Japanese troops that will be used in the attack. They are resting during a lull in the fighting near Tienchwangti.

Starts Trek With Bread And Bananas

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Dec. 30.—With a loaf of bread and two bananas as his initial food supply Peter Peters is off on another walking trip. This time it's to the Garden of Gods or thereabouts, in Colorado. There he hopes he may find a job tending sheep.

Peters returned home after a few months ago after having walked here from Boulder Dam, Colo. When he found no chance of a job there he walked back to Shamokin in five weeks, he said.

Peters said he expected his bread and bananas to last until he reached Pittsburgh.

FEMININE FANCY MAY GOVERN ART

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The whimsies of feminine probably will govern the art of the future, in the opinion of C. K. Chatterton, whose paintings of Maine coast towns comprise a current one-man show.

For women, says Chatterton, has now been "liberated" in the field of art. No longer does she paint mere teacups or "arty" things she is reaching out for the warmth and color and life that typify genuine artistic depth.

"Women used to study art," said Chatterton, who inaugurated a course in practical art in Vassar College 16 years ago "because it was "the thing to do." Now they are really interested.

"They will outstrip men in their influence on future art."

YOUTH'S SEARCH FOR GOLD SUCCESSFUL

DENNISPORT, Mass., Dec. 30.—Last September Franklyn Berry, 16, high school student, began digging in his backyard for 'a pot of gold.'

Elmer Lewis had told Berry that his (Elmer's) father had buried gold in the yard because he distrusted banks.

Neighbors laughed, but Perry devoted all his spare time to excavating for the supposed treasure trove, somtimes digging by moonlight.

Recently the boy unearthed a glass jar containing $20 gold pieces representing $500. A dated band of paper around the jar showed it had been buried 18 years and one day.

Mr. Glad Is Back On The Job And Jobless Are Glad

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—"Mr. Glad" is back at his old stand on Broadway gladdening the hearts of many hungry unemployed.

Lack of advance notice and advertising hit the annonymous philanthropist, who gave between 60,000 and 70,000 cups of coffee to the unemployed last winter, on his opening night this year just as it does other businesses.

The Glad philantropy shop had large stacks of corn beef sandwiches and steaming urns of coffee ready when it threw its doors open for business—but there was no business.

"That just goes to show what no advertising does for even a business like mine," moaned Mr. Glad.

Equal to the occasion, Mr. Glad secured several runners and they began to scour the surrounding parks and places where the hungry were most likely to be found. It wasn't long before Mr. Glad was doing a brisk business. Mr. Glad, who insists he remain incognito so as "not to spoil my fun," was there in person to serve the men.

"I selected Broadway for this work," he said, "partly because it stimulates the charitable impulse on the part of the well-to-do persons when they see a bread line of this kind. I intend to give away warm clothes as well as sandwiches and coffee. I will give each man a pair of gloves about ten days from now. I intend to hold these affairs about once every day throughout the winter. I would do it often but I am not a rich man."

Five years ago Mr. Glad emerged from two years' confinement in a hospital, penniless. He had undergone five major operations. Since that time he has regained his health fully and has prospered. His one hobby in life is to make money so that he can put it into his philanthropy and see that as many as he possibly can aid do not go hungry during the long tedious winters.

Magic Is Worked By Fruit Spray

REEDLEY, Cal., Dec. 30—Farmers from miles around have been inspecting the results from the "tree medicine" Fred Seaman rancher, has been demonstrating recently.

Seaman says his spray both kills insect pests and stimulates the growth of fruit in a manner comparable only to the growth of Jack's beanstalk.

His assertions have been corroborated by affidavit of R. H. Rasmussen, branch bank manager, and Seaman said the state department of agriculture has approved his spray.

Seaman said his spray made two orange trees, that never had borne fruit start proudcing this year. He said a peach tree a government man declared was nearly dead, had revived and this season produced four boxes of fruit.

Rasmussen's statement said that fruit of an Adriatic fig tree three days after it was sprayed had grown much larger and had the flavor of Calimyrnas.

Seaman says one general result of the use of his spray is in increase of 25 to 50 per cent in size of fruit.

HOME COMFORTS FOR EXPLORERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Slippers instead of skiis, a fireside and a comfortable room instead of a campfire, are in prospect for Captain James Critchell-Bullock and Lord Edward Montagu.

Setting out as two young Englishmen, they separately have explored some of the most little known spots of the world, and each has a list of adventures worthy of the hardiest scout.

Critchell-Bullock has been to the most remote parts of the Arctic. His adventures with John Hornby, famous "hermit of the frozen north," have been the subject of one book, "Snow Man," by Malcolm T. Waldron. He also served during the World war with the British army in India and France.

Lord Montagu has roamed up and down the African coast, through the interior of Morocco, and in the most out of the way parts of eastern Europe.

Now they have determined to halt their wandering. They plan to settle in British Columbia, where they will enter mine development.

13,000 DOUGH BOYS SOON TO BE RELEASED

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—With their 12-year term of army service prescribed by the Versailles peace treaty ended, 13,000 German "doughboys" will be dismissed from the German Reichswehr by the end of this year. It is estimated that only 1,000 of them will find jobs. The others will join the 5,000,000 unemployed as recruits.

When enlisting for twelve years when the Germany army was reorganized after the war, the young soldiers were promised jobs as state officials, or as executives in trade and industry after discharge. Owing to the business depression, the government is unable to fulfill its promises, and the ex-soldiers see a dark future.

Of the 10,000 men whose term expired during 1930, only 30 per cent found employment to make a living, and merely 283 could be taken over by the state administration as officials.

WIDOW SUED FOR MOURNERS' BANQUET

DANVILLE, O., Dec. 30.— Henry Darrah's dying wish was that everybody should eat heartily at his funeral.

He asked a woman's society of the Church of Christ to prepare a meal for mourners, and to take "the money from my estate." The mourners came and ate, but when the funeral was over Henry's widow, Mrs. Fanny Darrah, refused to recognize the church's bill of $35.50 for the meal.

The church claims the bill is valid and should be a preferred claim against the estate. The court will decide.

Widow at Wilson Memorial

Guest of honor at a luncheon given under the auspices of the Women's Democratic Committee, at Washington, D. C., to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the birth of her husband, wartime President of the United States, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is shown as she listened to the eulogies on the late president. With Mrs. Wilson is Miss Ellen Gowen Hood (left), chairman of the Women's Democratic Committee of Pennsylvania.

Lincoln Portraits For County Schools

County Superintendent Receives 25 Which Are To Be Apportioned

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling has received a consignment of 25 portraits of Abraham Lincoln for distribution in the larger schools of the county. The pictures are framed, and are about 20x24 inches.

They will be hung up in schools at Glenkirk, Little Beaver Consolidated, Mt. Jackson, Bessemer, Chewton, Ellport, Enon, East Brook, Hickory Heights, Hillsville, Neshannock, New Wilmington, Plaingrove, New Bedford, Harlansburg, Shenango, Princeton, Shenango-Taylor joint, South New Castle, West Pittsburg, Union, Volant, Wayne and Matheny.

An additional consignment for other schools will be received later.

MULE REPAYS KINDNESS

(International News Service)

MODESTO, Calif.—Playing good samaritan to a mule cost Rodney Beck, 45, of Jackson, near here, a broken arm. Noticing the animal limping, Beck examined its feet and found a piece of gravel lodged in a tender part of the one hoof. As he attempted to remove it the mule kicked him on the arm.

FOR MOVIE JOBS, ANYWAY.

Invention Of Typewriter Is Claimed Abroad

(International News Service)

NOVARA, Italy, Dec. 30—Americans take it for granted that the typewriter was the invention of an American citizen. That is not the opinion of at least two European states, Austria and Italy, one of which claims the laurels for Peter Millerhoeffer and the other for Giuseppe Ravizzi, of this city.

According to the Austrians, Peter Millerhoeffer made the first typewriter in 1864. To prove it they show you his handiwork which is to be seen in the Technical Museum in Vienna. Novara hotly contests the claim, for the Ravizzi family have their father's typewriter, which bears the date 1837. It is still in their possession.

They admit that it was not perfected till 1855 when it performed all the functions required of a typewriter. Next year, Ravazzi brought out a patent and showed it to an incredulous crowd at the exhibition which was being held in the city. But as he could not find anybody to finance him he offered it for 200 liras (about $40 then), but for lack of a buyer took it home, where it has been ever since.

His typewriter is a big machine, standing higher than the modern ones. He worked it by means of a series of heavy levers, and typing on it is hard work.

Novara now waits for other claimants to the honor of having given an ungrateful world the first typewriter.

GREAT DEED

In the smokeroom of the big hotel the Scot had been boring everyone with tales of the great deeds he had done.

"Well, now," said an Englishman, at last, "suppose you tell us something you can't do, and, by jove, I'll undertake to do it myself."

Meter To Show Quake's Center

Destructive Force Of Tremors At Last To Be Measured

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 30.—An earthquake meter, to catch what man's instruments never yet have fully recorded, the destructive force of a great quake at its center, is under construction at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The apparatus was developed by M. W. Braunlich, research associate in seismology, and made public last night in a paper on part of his work before the Philosophical Society.

This meter is a new type of seismometer. Ordinarily seimographs are too sensitive for recording at the center of a quake. The new instrument is peculiar in that it records the "acceleration" of the earthquake, which means the rate of change of speed of the ground as it quakes.

The practical purpose of the seismomter is to take the guesswork out of construction of buildings in quake zones. The scientific purpose is the accurate measurement of the most of destructive natural phenomenon known on earth, the quake wave at and near the epicenter, the place on the earth's surface where the convulsions center.

The starting device of the seismometer is almost as simple in appearance as a telegraph operator's "key" and it operates on much the same principle. This quake key is operated by the push of an earthquake wave. Ordinary quake waves are like the telegraph operator's fingers when they rest lightly on his key. The operator must use a little muscle, a little of the weight of his hand. Violent quake waves supply a similar extra push to start the seismometer. This start closes an electrical relay, which in turn sets in operation an acelerometer that will continue recording as long as the quake lasts.

City Pay Donation Project May Not Get Council Favor

Although members of council and incoming officials will meet with representatives of police and firemen and the directors of other departments will represent their employes, it will not be determined until Thursday morning whether or not the donation by employes of one or two days work each month will be acceptable to all members of council.

The present members of council have the power to fix the budget for 1932. Some of them in addition to those to assume office tentatively decided that in order to raise revenue for the city it might be possible to secure the consent of employes receiving monthly salaries to donate one or two days work free each month.

It was estimated that this would net a sum of approximately of $10,800 for donation of one day's free work each month during 1932 or $21,600, for donation of two days work each month, according to Councilman Treser. He figured on Councilman Reeves plan upon the basis that each monthly salaried employe averaged $6 a day.

Councilman Burns it is reported believes the monthly sum from one day's donation will run about $600 or a saving of $7,200, a year or on a two days free work plan, $14,400. However, not all of the councilmen are agreed that the plan will work out. Some employes favor the plan and some do not, it is said.

The city employes main objection to a formal reduction in wages, it has been pointed out is that "if we get a cut, it will not be restored. If we agree to return one or two days salary to the city, it will be voluntary and the cut will not have been made."

However there are some who believe that council will feel the pulse of the public before formally adopting either plan. The city governors claim "we're up against it for money to operate the city." The Reeves plan, the first broached, was an idea which caught. Whether it is adopted finally will be known either Thursday when the officials and those about to take office meet with representative employes.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.— I was thinking the other day that it was about time for another vice crusade. And sure enough, the papers have begun to pop with the zeal of those who would pasteurize the town. Once more magazines, books dance halls and shows seem to have become too perky for toleration.

Look back through newspaper files and you will find that these movements crystallize and wane with regularity of seasons. Where the crusaders get really serious material upon which to proceed, in this most virtuous of all world cities, is forever mystifying to myself and other newspapermen I know.

Take the dance halls—a frequent target. It would be interesting to get the reaction of a young, earnest and personable clergyman assigned to discover the state of morals in these cathedrals of jazz where a dance costs a dime.

The pious investigator would discover that his "taxi" partners of the evening were often pretty and young, but he would find them also equipped with a hard protective wisdom possessed by few of the sheltered denizens of finishing schools. When, for duty's sake, he brought himself to suggest a meeting and date after closing time (3 a. m.) he would be enthusiastically—too enthusiastically—accepted. But, alas, when his quota of tickets had been exhausted and the last dance had ended, he would wait at the entrance in vain.

The young lady whom he had boldly "tempted" would walk by with eyes straight ahead, without even a nod—bound home to the Bronx, to Jackson Heights, to Brooklyn, to bed or for a sandwich at the all-night lunch, in company with the rising truck driver she has known since infancy.

It is an old, generally practiced, and effective ritual.

As to the shady magazines—these have, no one can deny, flooded the stands in profusion in recent weeks, ever since one widely heralded success in the field. But here again, it is an automatic and relentless procedure. They will die or become cleansed without benefit of clergy. The satiation and boredom of readers will accomplish the feat, just as always in the past.

Christmas Musicale Enthralls Audience

Music lovers of the city were given a rare treat Tuesday evening when they assembled in the auditorium of the beautiful new Epworth Methodist church to hear a Christmas recital, sponsored by the church choir, of which Chester P. Reynolds is director.

The guest soloist was Mrs. Vera Kaighn Nirella, of Pittsburgh, whose exceptional soprano voice is well known to many in this city, as she has appeared here a number of times. Her artistry has raised her to a high place in her chosen profession and her clear voice filled the auditorium and thrilled the audience as she sang her various numbers.

Of exceptional beauty were the duets played on the organ and piano, with Mrs. Anna Moore Pyle at the console and Miss Charlotte Andrews as pianiste. The enthralling notes of the organ, with the soft piano accompaniment held the hearers spellbound.

Program

The program opened with Chester Reynolds leading the assemblage in the singing of the carol, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", after which came—

Concerto—D. Major..... Mozart
Allegro
Larghetto
Piano and Organ

Organ Numbers—"Christmas Eve" ..... Otto Malling
"The Shepherd's Song" an ancient carol..... Alex Guilmant
"Gesu Bambino".... Pietro A. Yon
Anna Moore Pyle
"The Nightingale"..... Whelpley
"Homing"..... Del Riego
"To A Hilltop"..... Cox
Vera Kaighn Nirella
"Faschingsschwank" .... Schuman
A pompous, impassioned march of Vienna
Charlotte Andrews
"Adore and Be Still'.....Gounod
"Ring Out Wild Bells".....Gounod
Vera Kaighn Nirella
Organ and Piano Accompaniment
"Kamennoi Ostrow".... Rubinstein
Piano and Organ
Carol—"There's A Song in the Air"
"Christmas Night"—"Silent Night" ..... Vinc Goller
Vera Kaighn Nirella—soprano
Anna Moore Plye—organ
Charlotte Andrews—piano.

Mrs. Nirella responded to a number of encores and one of the most impressive was the singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem" from the vestry room of the church, with organ accompaniment.

While the organ pealed softly through the church for the last number, down the aisle, dressed in white and carrying tall lighted Christmas candles, came Emily Reynolds and Mary Catherine Jackson. They slowly advanced to the altar and lighted the bayberry candles which were placed in candelabra at either side and as these were lighted the cross above the pulpit shown forth and the lights blazed on the Christmas trees at the front of the church and the scene was most devout as the lights of the church were turned off and the program ended in this beautiful climax, with the organ and piano softly playing and the sweet voice of Mrs. Nirella singing "Silent Night".

This scene of closing was a magnificent one, which will be long remembered by those in the audience.

After the concert friends of Mrs. Nirella greeted her and the participants were highly congratulated upon their splendid concert.

AUTOIST IS HELD IN HIT-RUN DEATH

RIDGWAY, Pa., Dec. 30.—Ed Van Alstine, Wilcox, Pa., was arrested at DuBois by Corporal Kittner of the DuBois barracks of the state highway patrol. Van Alstine, alleged driver of a hit-and-run car which sideswiped a truck and caused the death of Thomas Myers, 41, of this city, was held in the Elk county jail pending a hearing after the verdict of an inquest.

MEADVILLE'S OLDEST RESIDENT DIES AT 96

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30—Mrs. Sarah Barr, 96, Meadville's oldest resident and widow of LaFayette Barr, who died 12 years ago, is dead at her home on Walnut street. She celebrated her ninety-sixth birthday Thanksgiving, being pictured as the head of two lines of five generations.

HEARING ORDERED IN DEATH OF BOY

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Andrew Greiner, New Brighton, will be given a hearing Monday night on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Melvin Rose died at the Beaver Valley hospital, November 10, from injuries received the day previous when run down by an automobile driven by Greiner.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL TO WOMAN

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 30.—Injuries which she received last Thursday in an automobile accident Tuesday resulted in the death of Mrs. J. O. Noll, 48, wife of the owner of the Riverview Hotel here. The woman was enroute to Clarington, Ohio, to spend Christmas with relatives when the crash occurred.

PRIZE PIG STOLEN FROM SHOW WINDOW

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 30—The carcass of a prize pig is missing and state, county and city officials have been asked to look for it. Miss Margaret Wilson bought the pig, thrice winner in state shows and had it butchered for distribution among the needy. The porker was hung in a display window yesterday. This morning the window was broken and the pig missing.

Motorists Should Exercise Care; Also All Pedestrians

Report Received By Chief Horner Shows An Increase For State

According to the summary of motor vehicle accidents in Pennsylvania for the month of November and for the past year as issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and just received by Chief of Police C. C. Horner, there was a very decided increase in accidents during November of this year as compared with November of 1930. The number of fatalities for the month also showed a marked increase, there being 205 deaths in the past month as compared with 177 deaths in November of 1930. There was also a marked increase in the property damage done in these same corresponding months.

The type of accidents showing the greatest increase in the past month over the same month of 1930 were those designated as the non-collision type. These are the type which occur when pedestrians cross between intersections where children are walking or playing in the streets or coming from behind parked cars.

Accidents from these causes have been on the increase in the past few months in this city according to Chief of Police Horner and if proper care was taken, especially on the part of those on foot, such accidents could be almost entirely eliminated

Pedestrians should cross streets only at regular intersections, according to the chief and if there should be a real necessity for crossing between intersections, there should be every posible precaution taken by the pedestrians to avoid an accident. Motorists should, according to the chief, have their cars under control at all times as to practically make such accidents as previously mentioned almost impossible. In fact according to Chief Horner, if both the motorists and pedestrians would exercise as much care in the use of the streets as they do ordinarily in matters of business or in ordinary affairs of life, many of the accidents now occuring would not be possible.

GUARDSMEN DRILL IN ARMORY TONIGHT

The weekly drill of Troop F, Pennsylvania National Guard, will be held in the Neshannock avenue armory tonight, instead of Friday, New Year's. The drill, to which the public has been invited, commences at 7:30 p. m.

SERVICES AT VILLAGE

Services were conducted at No. 2 Mine near Leesburg, Sunday, by several people from the local Christian and Missionary Alliance church.

The meeting was led by Harry Mack. A twenty minute talk was made by Will Gamble. Others present from here were Margarite Mack, John Graham and John Masters.

"Shot In Arm" Will Restore Your "Pep"

By LEIGH MATTESON
International News Service Science Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—Visions of the day when the "boss" may restore the maximum "high pressure" to his sales force every morning by giving each salesman a "shot in the arm" were held up today before the zoology section of the American Association for the advancement of science.

The "shot in the arm" will consist of a solution of the hormone produced by the Cortex of the adrenal glands, which perch like hats atop the kidneys.

Experiments conducted by Professor Frank A. Hartman, of the Department of Physiology, University of Buffalo, have demonstrated that all sorts of fatigue due to overwork, social strains, or excessive exercise, may be eradicated by injections of the hormone, "cortin," into the muscles or veins of victims.

"We have shown," Dr. Hartman said, "that cortin is intimately related to the functions of muscle, nervous tissue and kidneys. Perhaps when other tissues are investigated they will be found to be just as directly concerned.

"It is difficult to explain these effects through the primary action on any one function of the body. Cortin, therefore, seems to be necessary for the activity of the various tissues of the body.

"We suggest that it may be a general tissue hormone."

Difficulties in obtaining large quantities of the hormone by present methods will prevent the wide use of the hormone injections to overcome the fatigues of modern life. These difficulties are reflected directly in the cost of the injections. At present the cost is so great that the hormone is used only when patients are dying from lack of the hormone, due usually to disease of the glands.

Plan Big Display At State Exhibit

Girl Clubs Will Show Products At Pennsylvania Farm Show Next Month

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 30.—Mercer county's display at the Pennsylvania State Farm Products Show January 18-22 will not be limited this year to stock or dairy products although both will be shown.

It is stated at the Farm Bureau office that there will be a display of clothing made by girls of the Four H and other clubs of the county which are under the direction of Miss Dorothy Etter who represents the state and federal governments in this work.

Miss Etter who works full time now in the county has over 12 of these clubs organized. The best specimens of their work will be taken to the show.

A style show of the clothing was held here this fall.

RURAL SCHOOLS RESUME

Rural schools resumed sessions this week. The town schools are on vacation the major portion of them resuming January 4th.

BIG DELEGATION

It is believed that the delegation of Mercer county educators which attended the meeting of the State Educational Association held in Pittsburgh December 28-30 was the largest that ever represented the county at any educational gathering. The meeting was made the more important because of the fact that the Ten Year Plan of education which is now being drawn up was the subject of discussion.

ACCOUNTS FILED

All election expense accounts of the 1931 election have been filed it is stated at the office of Clerk of Courts Mrs. Belle Emery.

Thirty days after the election were given in which to attend to this duty.

ONE CASE FILED

One case is filed for the March criminal term. The long period of time between the December and January terms should make the term a heavy one.

Gangland Victim Is Found Slain

Abe Cooper, Small-Time Chicago Gambler Is Taken For "Ride"

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Abe Cooper, who mixed small-time gambling operations with small-time politics, was taken for a gangland ride today. His body, drilled by seven 45 calibre slugs, was found sprawled beside a road in Layton township.

A short time before the body was discovered State Highway Police saw an antiquated sedan speeding along Wolf road. It contained three men. Bloodstains were on the running board. Police believed Cooper was thrown from this machine.

Kiwanians Install Officers In Joint Meeting Tuesday

Lieutenant Governor Is Installing Officer At Interesting Affair

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—In a joint meeting of the Ellwood and Beaver Falls Kiwanis club last night in the Trinity Lutheran Church, the officers for the new year were formerly installed with a most impressive ceremony.

Lieutenant Governor, Dr. H. E. Helling performed the rites in a solemn and sacred manner. Seventeen members of the Beaver Falls club and three officers of the New Castle Club were present at the time.

After this ceremony was completed, Brainerd Metheny of Beaver Falls entertained those present with some sleight of hand tricks. A general social period was held later.

Those present from New Castle were President Clarence M. England, Secretary L. C. Mantz, and Hans Drio.

Miss Edrye Moyer Is Club Hostess

Modern Bridge Members Have Good Meeting In Wayne Avenue Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Dispensing delightful hospitality Miss Edrye Moyer received the members of the Modern Bridge club at her home on Wayne avenue Tuesday evening. Miss Betty Sowry, Mrs. Edward Koonst of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. James Fitzgerald were special guests. Christmas appointments adorned conspicuous places about the home to enliven the occasion.

Bridge at three tables occupied the attention of those present. Miss Mary Zeigler and Miss Gladys Anderson received the club awards at the close of the games and Mrs. Koonst was presented with the guest favor.

With the assistance Mrs. Fitzgerald, the hostess served a dainty menu. Mrs. Boyd Zeigler will entertain the club in two weeks.

FUNERAL SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Van Gorder French were held from her late home at Wurtemburg Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. A. M. Doak, pastor of the Wurtemburg M. E. church was in charge of the services assisted by Rev. J. E. Caughey, pastor of the Wurtemburg U. P. church.

The services were largely attended and the Ladies of the G. A. R. of this city were present in a body. Mrs. French was known in a wide circle of friends and her death brings sorrow to many in this vicinity. She was a life long resident of this district and held in the highest esteem by all who knew her.

Immediate survivors are three daughters, Mrs. George Koach, Mrs. James Rapp, both of Wurtemburg and Mrs. Charles Turk of New Castle; one son, Logan French, and one brother, Sidney Van Gorder of Wurtemburg. She is also survived by a number of grand and great grand children. Her husband, the late Aaron French, civil war veteran preceded her in death many years ago.

Acting as pallbearers were R. W. Koach, Lawrence French, Robert Weingartner, Edwin French, Harold Rapp and Julian Turk, all grandsons of the deceased. Interment was made in Hickory Knell cemetery.

CANFIELD CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—The Canfield Club will hold its regular meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Mary McKim on Crescent avenue. After the election of officers a Christmas party will be enjoyed. The meeting will begin at eight o'clock.

Travel League Club Hears Talk On Italy

Miss Jessie Southerton Tells Of Visit To "Sunny Italy"

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30. — The members of the Travel League Club held their regular meeting last night at the home of Mrs. John Gelbach on Fountain avenue. Miss Jessie Southerton and her mother were special guests at the time. The former gave an interesting account through "Sunny Italy" in which she told of the Hill towns and their inhabitants. She gave some most interesting incidents in the lives of Italy's famous artists, which were collected during her visit. The talk was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed by those present.

The next meeting of the club will take place on January 19 at the home of Mrs. W. H. Shields on Fifth street.

Christian Church Congregation To Hold Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—The members of the First Christian church will hold their annual congregational meeting Thursday night in the church auditorium. The various reports of all departments and organizations of the church will be heard at this time. The pastor will give a few important remarks. Following this meeting a dinner will be served and a watch party will be held at 11:30.

The senior Christian Endeavor held a business meeting yesterday in which they disposed of routine matters.

Past Officers Of Orange Ladies Have Yule Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Della Pifer was hostess to the Past Officers of the Orange Ladies Lodge last night at her home on Wood street. The gathering was the occasion of the club's annual Christmas party.

After a bountiful dinner at which covers were laid for twelve, the members had an exchange of gifts. The affair was made more enjoyable by the presence of lovely Christmas appointments. The remaining hours of the evening were spent in working on a quilt which will be donated to a home later on. Deputy. Mrs. Henry Davis of New Castle was a special guest at the time. Mrs. Sara Tereese will entertain the club on January 12.

CLASS MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Carl Shirley pleasantly entertained the members of the Ever Ready S. S. class fo the North Sewickley Presbyterian church at her home at Riverview Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

At the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Shirley, the class planned to help some needy family each month. This was followed by a social time and an attractive feature was Christmas gifts arranged about a prettily adorned Christmas tree which were exchanged among the members.

Before departing for home a delicious repast was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Walter Blinn. The menu and appointments were tastefully carried out in keeping with the season's tones. Sixteen members and two special guests, Miss Fisher and Mrs. Bert Hazen, were present.

The class will meet again the last week in January at the home of Mrs. Oliver Aiken at Knox.

If a housewife only gave what was seldom used to the poor, she could pass on some lovely guest towels.—The Indianapolis Star.

Tuesday Bridge Members Assemble

Mrs. Herbert Habert Is Pleasing Hostess To Club Members Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—With delightful hospitality Mrs. Herbert Habert received the members of the Tuesday Evening Bridge club on Lawrence avenue last night. This meeting was the club's annual Christmas gathering and all members were present.

A tureen dinner was served at 6:30 in a most impressive setting. Seasonal colors with evergreen appointments and further enhanced by lighted tapers, presented a scene that brought many expressions of appreciation from those present.

After the dinner bridge was in vogue for the remainder of the evening with two tables in play. Mrs. Lawrence Hessert and the hostess were the winners of first and low club favors at the conclusion of the games.

Mrs. Hessert invited the club to be her guest in two weeks at her home on the New Castle road.

Mrs. Joe Bloomer Hostess To Club

Delta Deck Members Have Fine Meeting In Fountain Avenue Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Joe Bloomer entertained the members of the Delta Deck club at her home on Fountain avenue last night. Mrs. Reichardt was a special guest on the occasion.

Bridge at two tables was in vogue for the greater part of the evening, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Leonard Hazen received the club award. Mrs. Reichardt was presented the guest favor.

At an appointed hour the hostess, with the assistance of Mrs. Kenneth Alexander, served a dainty luncheon as a closing event of the meeting.

Mrs. Lloyd Hammill invited the club to meet at her home in Wurtemburg in two weeks.

Yes And No Club Members Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—A delightful evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Claire Cummins in Ellport on Tuesday evening when the members of the Yes and No club gathered there and held their Christmas party. This event was also in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Sarah Tindall of Wurtemburg.

The hours were enlivened with various games, contests and many other diversions and at the close of the games Mrs. Tressa Rosenkranz was awarded the prize for "bingo" and Mrs. Walter Tindall the flower drill prize. A pleasing feature of the evening was the exchange of gifts by the members and the presentation of birthday remembrances to the honor guest.

At a most appropriate time a tempting collation was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jacob Culp. Guests of the evening Mrs. Walter Tindall, Mrs. George Hazen, Mrs. Leonard Moffatt, Mrs. Thressa Rosenkranz, Mrs. Jacob Culp and Miss Sarah Tindall. Mrs. Grace Brewer of Mansville, O., a former member of the club, was also present.

The next meeting will be held January 27 at the home of Mrs. Merle Wiltrout in Ellport.

Original Bridge Members Meet

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Kathryn Hainer was a pleasing hostess to the members of the Original Bridge Club at her home on Second street Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. Jay Dunn, Sr., and Mrs. W. W. Seidel were special guests on the occasion. Bridge at two tables was the attraction of the day, at the conclusion of which Mrs. L. L. Gelbach received the club prize and Mrs. Dunn the guest award. The club will meet again with Mrs. Gelbach in two weeks.

JOINT CLASS MEETING

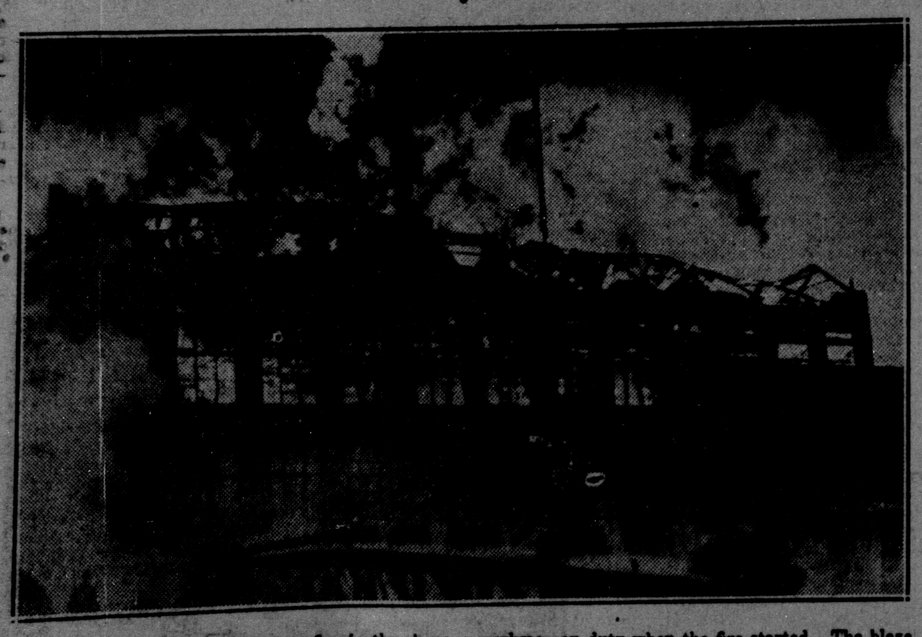
ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—The boys' junior classes of the Wurtemburg U. P. church taught by Mrs. R. H. Kirk and Charles Mehard met in the hcurch rooms last evening and held a joint Christmas party with a majority of the members present and two special guests, Albert Koscho and Jack Partridge.

The shuffle board game was the amusement of the evening until a late hour when delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Kirk. The classes plan to hold a number of these joint events during the winter months.

PHILATHEA CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—The Philathea Bible class of the First Baptist church held their regular meeting last night in their classrooms. An important business meeting was held, at which the election of officers was the feature. Mrs. Miles Shaffer was elected as teacher of the class and Mrs. Frank Klindienst as the assistant; Mrs. Landis Roeloff is the president, Mrs. Margaret Ross the treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Wehman the secretary. After this the remainder of the time was spent in making handkerchiefs for the Baptist orphanage.

Scene of Costly Railroad Fire



Here is the scene of the disastrous fire in the shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Altoona, Pa., that has thrown approximately 1,100 men out of work. Officials of the company estimated the damage at between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, but luckily no one was injured, owing to there being no workmen on duty when the fire started. The blaze, which was not discovered until it had made good headway, started in the bolt shop, where the floor was greasy, and spread rapidly. Firemen were endangered by falling walls and heavy machinery that crashed through floors as they collapsed.

Zelienople Wins From Ellwood

Game Is Played Last Night On Zelienople High Floor

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Zelienople high again proved too much for the local passers as they romped away with their second consecutive basketball win over the Ellwood City high lads by a 23-15 score last evening on the former's floor.

The Sager quint proved their superiority in the second quarter when they took the lead to hold it through out the remainder of the contest. But despite this fact the game was hard fought and exciting from start to finish. The locals were unable to check the rampage of Young and Smith, Zellenople's two brilliant forwards who took over the burden of scoring. The former got four baskets and three fouls and the latter four baskets and one foul.

As in their previous meeting the blue and white passers took a 6-5 lead in the initial period and were going "great guns" until the dying moments of the second stanza when Zelienople forged to the front. Kennedy acquired two buckets and Latiano one to constitute Ellwood's scoring in the first period. Young and Rogner were the scorers for the Sager tossers.

Before the beginning of the second stanza everybody was in the heat of the contest as both teams commenced a hard battle for the lead. The Zelienople forwards each got a basket to offset Kennedy's two pointer and Barnes's foul goal, which deadlocked the score at 9 all. Young gave his team the lead with a free throw as the half ended with the score standing at 10-9.

The ensuing stanza was even more interesting as the blue and white in desperation attempted several long shots to gain the front. Both teams were held to one field apiece in this chapter which still gave Zelienople a 12-11 advantage as the period closed.

In the final stanza the home team took the situation well in hand and proceeded to out score their opponents 11 to 4, with Young and Smith being in the scoring rolls. Barnes and Frew were able to send the ball through the hoops for Ellwood. As the final whistle blew the Tubers were trailing 23-15. Ellwood's forwards were outstanding last night also.

The lineup:

Zelienople 23		Ellwood 15
Young	F	Kennedy
Smith	F	Latiano
Ifft	C	Barnes
Rogner	G	Dudick
Yockey	G	Smith

Subs—Ellwood: Bolotin, Lasso, Frew, Cavalier, Forsythe and Johnstone; Zelienople: Moorhead. Referee—H. M. Allison.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30—The Daughters of Ruth S. S. Class of the Wurtemburg M. E. church held their annual Christmas party last evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Boots of Pleasant Hill with ten members present.

The hours passed pleasantly with games, contests and music being the main diversions. The home was attractively decorated with Christmas novelties and a lighted Christmas tree. Around the tree were arranged gifts which were later exchanged among the guests.

The concluding feature of the evening was a delectable luncheon served by the hostess, also carrying out the yuletide tones.

The class will meet again the last of January the place to be announced later.

Officer—"You're in for a safe-cracking job."

Prisoner—"All right. I'll take the position."

WEMBLEY, Alberta. — Herman Trelle, of Wembley won the world's wheat prize at the 1931 International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago with a sample of Durum wheat. The winning of the wheat championship by a Canadian farmer this year makes the seventeenth time Canada has won a similar honor at the International in the past 21 years.

Why Mississippi Towns Are Flooded

The top panel above shows an aerial view of the levee, near Crowder, Miss., which holds back the tides of the Tallahatchie River, a tributary of the Mississippi. The break caused by the recent heavy rise of the river can be plainly seen. Through this gap poured millions of cubic feet of water, which effectively inundated thousands of acres of land in the surrounding territory. Other branches of the big river have broken the leeves in similar fashion, causing terrible hardship throughout the entire Mississippi Valley. Lower is an aerial photo of a farm near Swan Lake which is completely isolated by the flood. Food was dropped from the plane from which the picture was made.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Her Sons Ungrateful She Writes

Grown Men Neglect Mother Who Sacrificed For Them

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

A mother writes:

"Dear Mr. Myers: I have three sons for whom I was ambitious to give a fair start in life. This seemed to me a developed mind (a college education) which we could not afford, but which by dint of mental, physical and social starvation I managed to contrive out of poverty. I thought them worthy and looked forward to the friendship, the companionship they would give me afterwards (in their mature years) which I felt would abundantly compensate me. But they do not write me! I did not want to let them see 'the wheels go round,' as it were, so did not let them know how dearly I paid, or how heavily; for I believed it necessary for them and did not want things 'balled up' by their refusal to accept.

"When they were very young I read stories to them—so many—as you say. I was too busy striving to teach them to consider me or my happiness. Working used up all my strength long ere the day ended, so that I had none to live on. Practically every day was finished on nerve force, which made me cross, indeed, most of the time. I never received help or cooperation or consideration from my husband. Should not such teachers as you teach men that motherhood (building personality the greatest thing in the universe) is a great task and worthy of time and leisure provided for her, as well as suitable training therefor?"

"But what have I failed to teach my sons that they regard their youth a closed episode—finished? And when I was their true friend, protector, why could they leave me so regardlessly?

* * *

"They object to my writing as a mother, chiding or censuring. Nor will they when they write, do more than perfunctory writing—never share the knowledge of their work or praise or problems with me. And I feel robbed of my compensation. Am I wrong? Neglect is terrible to bear, for they are so far away that I never have the money to visit them even. Two are in New York City and one in Montana."

* * *

Answer: Your letter touches me very much, indeed. I think you have very carefully analyzed the source of your problem, namely, that you made too many sacrifices for your children. Of course, you did it out of the goodness of your heart. If you want to get the children to respond to you, be sure to avoid condemning them for their neglect. Although they deserve the condemnation, it won't bring you good results. Just write them regularly in as affectionate a manner as you can, hoping that they will reply, without begging them to do so.

It will help you, I believe, and make you happier, to map out a course of reading of the kind that you will enjoy and that will give you something outside of your trouble to think about and talk about. Join an active club that is intellectually stimulating. To keep mentally and emotionally healthy you must find means of expressing yourself and of using up the native talents which you obviously possess. You certainly have my sincere good wishes.

Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear".

Oklahoma Youth Faces Death For Holdup Slaying

Young Man Who Killed Merchant During Holdup Will Die In Electric Chair

(International News Service)

NEWKIRK, Okla., Dec. 30.—The maximum penalty for robbery with firearms—death in the electric chair—was meted out Tuesday for Ignacio Gomez, 19 in seeking to obtain funds with which to purchase a marriage license took the life of J. A. Armstrong, Ponca City merchant.

Armstrong was slain by the youth following a holdup in his store December 18. Gomez has steadfastly declined to name the girl he planned to marry.

March 11 was set as the date of Gometz' execution. No one has as yet been executed under the provisions of the robbery with firearms law.

MILLBURN

PRESENT PROGRAM

An appreciative audience of parents and friends attended the Christmas entertainment presented by the pupils of Mt. Union school on Wednesday evening, December 23. An interesting program of music, recitations, dialogues and exercises was carried out in a manner that reflected credit on both pupils and teacher. Worthy of special mention was an exercise by the first and second grades in which fifteen children took part spelling the words "Christmas dinner". An exchange of simple gifts under the direction of Santa Claus closed the program.

CHRISTMAS GATHERINGS

Christmas Day was made the occasion of many family gatherings in which residents of this community had a part either as hosts or guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong and son were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Woods of Grove City at a gathering of the Woods and Armstrong families at which places were laid for thirty-one. All the members of the two families were present with the exceptions of the family of Clarence Woods who were absent on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cummings were hosts to their son and daughter and their families.

Man Who Fired Five Shots At Alderman Christmas Eve, Held On Charge

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Charges of shooting with intent to kill today were lodged against Felix Sczoki, 36, held in the county jail here since Christmas eve, when five revolver shots were fired at Alderman Frank Gaczowski as he backed his automobile from his garage.

Gaczowski, claiming he had identified Sczoki as his assailant, filed the charges. Prosecution of a brother of the alleged assailant was the cause for the shooting, the Alderman claimed.

Warner Suggests Curbing Use Of Linemen's Hands

Coach Pop Warner, Believes Many Of Injuries Occur In Line Play

MANY SUGGESTIONS FOR BETTERING GAME

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Football coaches and officials holding their annual conventions in New York meet again today as sessions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association open and undoubtedly the two great gridiron figures of the game will again dominate the proceedings.

To football men there have been only two great coaches, Pop Warner and Knute Rockne.

The memory of one and the voice of the other yesterday led the assembled coaches to a sensible discussion of the fatalities, which have been part of football this year. Both Rockne and Warner spoke by proxy, Rockne through a half dozen of his pupils, now coaches, and Warner through James Marks, of Kiski school, who read a letter from the sage of Stanford.

Should Curb Roughness

Warner's suggestions for minimizing injuries seemed to the coaches to be the most sensible yet offered.

He said he saw danger in the kick-off as now used but that he did think use of the hands by defensive linemen should be curbed to the extent that linemen should be prevented from touching the heads of opponents.

Many injuries have been caused by vigorous hadling of offensive linemen by defensive men. Butting with the heel of the hand, pounding with the rabbit punch and similar ungentle tactics have been a part of football for years.

Warner's suggestion was received with cheers, although many of the coaches felt that if put into effect a great many of the subtleties of defensive line play would disappear. He also advocated that officials pay more attention to "kneeing" an infraction of the rules which is seldom noticed by officials.

Rigid Examinations

Herbert McCracken of Lafayette suggested that more rigid physical examinations be given players, before, during and after the season.

"We have investigated a great many of the fatalities which have resulted from football this year and almost invariably the boy was in poor physical condition to begin with," he told his collegues.

Several other new ideas were brought up by the coaches and it may be that some action will be taken on them today. It was suggested that a tee be used in the kick-off; that special rules be made to protect the forward passer; and that on the kick-off the kicking side be permitted to punt, which would enable the teams to eliminate the wedge, which seems to be in great disfavor among the coaches.

The report of E. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, will be submitted this afternoon. The N. C. A. A. will continue its sessions tomorrow.

A great many unemployed coaches looking for jobs and a few jobs looking for coaches are in evidence. Coaching berths at Princeton and N. Y. U. were the two targets aimed at by coaches at liberty. The coaches believed "Tuss" McLaughery of Brown would get the Princeton berth and that either Ed Robinson, former Brown mentor or Jimmy Crowley of Michigan State would be offered the N. Y. U. job left vacant by the resignation of Chick Meehan.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

An All-Star major league baseball team chosen by 229 members of the Baseball Writers association is made up of eight American league and two National league players. The team, announced by 'Sporting News' is made up as follows: Al Simmons, Athletics, left field; Earl Averill, Cleveland, center field; Babe Ruth, Yankees, right field; Harold Traynor, Pirates, third base; Joe Cronin, Senators, shortstop; Frankie Frisch, Cardinals, second base; Lou Gehrig, Yankees, First base; Mickey Cochran, Athletics, catcher; Robert Grove and George Earnshaw, both of the Athletics, pitchers.

Baseballs for foul hits have been striking the roof of her house so constantly and terrifically during the past season at the Texas league park here that Mrs. Sol Elisha of Beaumont, Texas, has filed suit in the district court against Mayor E. A. Fletcher, Rube Stuart, owner of the Beaumont baseball club, and seven other citizens who are interested in the sport for $1,000,000.

Pitt Panthers Trim Stanford

Coast Quintet Unable To Keep Pace With Fast Pitt Team, 22-11

(International News Service)

STANFORD, Cal., Dec. 30.—Judging from the score, the Pitt Panthers were just twice as good as their floor opponents, and as a result hung up a 22-11 victory over Stanford University here last night.

Slow in starting, the Panthers hit their stride early in the second half, and though the Stanford Indians managed to even matters twice in the first period, the Carlson-coached quintet maintained the lead throughout the game.

Lawry and Ochsenhirt led the scoring with six points apiece. Hughes, Pitt guard, was banished near the end of the game for four personals. Coach Hal Carlson and his squad left by train soon after for Los Angeles where they play two games with the University of Southern California.

Forest A. C. Tops Troop Quintet, 33-20

Taking a commanding lead at the start of the game and holding on to it, the Forest A. C. basketball team registered a 33-20 triumph over the Troop F. Five, Tuesday night on the Armory floor.

Gallagher with 6 field goals and Llewellyn with 4 were the best for the winners while Nocera starred with 5 field goals.

The lineup:

Forest 33		Troop F 20
B. Cooper	F	Nocera
Gallagher	F	Stewart
Vigali	C	Vanderou
Chicora	G	Shellogg
Llewellyn	G	Perrotta

Substitutions: Forest, None; Troop F, Daugherty and Mackey.

Field goals: Nocera 5, Stewart 1, B. Cooper 1, Gallagher 6, Chicora 2, Llewellyn 4, Daugherty 1.

Fouls: Forest, 5 out of 10; Troop F, 5 out of 8.

Referee—Richards.

Getting the Point

New Castle And Beaver Falls To Battle Once Again

Section Three Basketball Race Starts Next Tuesday Night

GAMES START AT 8:00 O' CLOCK

What are believed to be two chief contenders will be brought together next Tuesday night on the George Washington junior high floor when the New Castle high basketball team resumes athletic relationship with the Beaver Falls Tigers in the opening contest of the section three race of the W. P. I. A. L. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Several years back these two schools discontinued relationship due to an athletic argument over a W. P. I. A. L. football cup. The resumption will be welcomed by the fans of both cities due to the fact that when these two schoolboy combinations meet there is always sure to be a battle worth watching. The two quintets have already played one or two games and judging from reports, Beaver Falls will be in there up to their neck.

New Castle, of course, in disposing of the Pitt Freshies made a good impression upon its followers. The George Washington court is expected to be jammed to capacity when these schoolboys meet. For this reason, the fans are urged to secure their pasteboards early if they want to see the opening of the section three race here. The tickets can be purchased at the Sporting Goods store on East Washington street. The tickets are now on sale for 50 cents, the same as for general admission in the balcony.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner predicts a sell out for the game. Fans can secure a reserved seat by calling the Sporting Goods store by telephone and upon arriving at the George Washington school may get their tickets at the ticket booths next Tuesday.

Start Practice.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh and his red and black ball flingers started practices at the Washington court Monday afternoon. Until next Monday workouts will be a daily routine. Several of the drills will be held in the evening, the local mentor announced.

Beaver Falls, fresh from a victory over the East Palestine quintet, has commenced preparation for the Tin City Rocket. Beaver Falls fans are enthused over their floor team this season. They believe they have a possible winner this season. According to reports several hundred valley adherents will trek here to watch their wild Tigers open the section three fight.

Charity Enriched By Tennis Battles

Tennis Stars In Chicago Draw Gate Of $7,592—Vines Beats Lott

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Ellsworth Vines, 20-year-old national tennis champion, was even with George Lott, Chicago's Davis cup player, today. And the joint emergency relief fund was enriched by $7,592 as the fruit of an indoor charity net tournament at the Chicago stadium last night.

In a brilliant burst of speed and cunning Vines turned back the Davis cup star by the score of 3-6, 6-3, 10-8.

The other singles match of the evening brought two other Davis cup team members into conflict. Frank Shields of New York trounced John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4.

In the last match of the program Van Ryn And Lott, Wimbledon world's doubles champions, fell before the onslaught of Vines and Shields, 6-4, 6-4.

Football Ills Being Traced To Fans Who Demand Good Teams

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The expected is taking place.

The noble folk identified in one or another way with the game of football now are trying to place the blame for the deaths, the proselyting, the over-emphasis and all else upon the paying guests.

A very famous tutor in pigskin toting Blandly states:

"The public demands spectacular plays. So the coach must give inspired pep talks to his players and these lads then go out, prepared to do or die, and, giving all they have to give, risking everything, they sometimes meet with accidents."

Meeham Speaks

Which is merely a portside way of saying that the coach gets plenty of sugar to provide a winning combination, that his job depends upon victories and so he keys up the boys to concert pitch, arouses within them the zeal of something or other and out they go—sometimes to their death, oftener to hospital cots.

"Chick" Meehan, tossing off his job as coach at New York University, spoke a few brief words, but they are the tipoff as to the modern methods used in commercialized football:

"I am tired of driving boys" he said.

All of which dispells the illusion, held for so many years, that the boys went in for football because they loved the dear college and eagerly, gladly, fought to the limit—and beyond—for its greater honor and glory, Amen.

Spectators Condemned

The cash customers at the combats came in for a varnishing when John T. McGovern, of the Carnegie Foundation, speaking at the Sportsmanship Brotherhood, swung his verbal brush and declared:

"The scandalous conduct of the spectators has done more to break down the best traditions than any subsidizing of athletes, proselyting of players or scholastically deficient students could do."

During 20 years of gazing at the boys frisking around with a pig's hide, I have never had to watch any mob scenes on any field. Never have I seen a football official mauled, nor a player banged around by the crowd.

So far as I have been able to observe, football crowds are better behaved than any that attend any form of sport—and that includes tennis.

Akron Quintet Outclassed By Westminster College Basketeers

BROWNLEE AND KOCHERAN STAR

(Special to The News.)

AKRON, O., Dec. 30.—Westminster college surprised the All-Star Goodyear team here last night, defeating the Akron team by a 31-22 score. The Pennsylvania collegians took the lead at the start of the game, led by 18-5 at the half and won out handily.

Brownlee with 12 points and Kocheran with eight points were leading scorers. The Westminster club limited the Goodyears to one field goal in the first half.

Previous to last night the Goodyears had lost only to Pitt by one point and had defeated a number of Ohio and Pennsylvania colleges.

The lineups:

Reno Fight Fans Idolize Dempsey

(International News Service)

RENO, Nev., Dec. 30.—Jack Dempsey may be a former heavyweight champion in the official records but he's still the king pin fighter in Reno.

A committee of six business men was named today to confer with Dempsey over plans for a championship fight in Reno either on Memorial Day or July 4.

Dempsey, the committee agreed, could attract 60,000 fans and a $750,000 gate.

Dempsey in San Francisco today indicated he would see his friends in Reno after the first of the year.

Youthful Gridder Dies In Hospital

New Jersey Preparatory School Boy Is 45th Football Victim Of Season

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 30.—Football had claimed still another victim, the 45th of the year, today.

He was Nicholas Cicone, 18, who died at a hospital here after suffering 14 months from injuries received in a gridiron game while attending St. Benedict's preparatory school.

Five blood transfusions made after his skull was fractured during a scrimmage proved futile.

Wesley Will Play New Wilmington

The Wesley M. E. team of the New Castle Church League will go to New Wilmington tonight for a game with the Scholastics. This game replaces the one scheduled originally with the Ct. Ann's of Farrell and which was cancelled. The Wesley team is asked to meet at the "Y" tonight at 6:45 o'clock for the trip to New Wilmington—Irwin, P. Fabian, R. Fabian, W. Rech, F. Rech, Bert, Mottinger, Critchlow, Matthews and Coach Hood.

COMRADES SEEK GAMES

The Comrades basketball team would like the managers of the following teams to get in touch with the Comrades' manager by calling 1849-J and asking for Frank: Oak A. C., Neshannock Rangers, Sacred Hearts "B" team and the Syrian Eagles.

East Brook High Tops Karns City

East Brook High Boys Defeat W. P. I. A. L. Team 16 To 13 At East Brook

The Eastbrook High boys basketball team gained a 16 to 13 victory over the fast Karns City team of the W. P. I. A. L. last night at the Eastbrook floor. Betka was the big star in the Eastbrook lineup caging five baskets. Rung had two field goals.

The Karns City five failed to get a field goal in the first half of the game, and only four for the entire game. On the foul line they outscored Eastbrook caging five fouls to two for the winners. Karns City is in the Section 18 along with Union High, Slippery Rock, Zelienople, Mars and Evans City.

The summary:

Eastbrook 16		Karns City 13
C. Shuller	F	McCrory
B. Rung	F	Berry
Krause	C	Harmon
Betka	G	Hilliard
Kendall	G	Nolan

Substitutes: Eastbrook: Criswell. Karns City: Tomasello, Davis, Jackson. Field goals: Rung 2, Betka 5, Tomasello, Harmon, Hilliard, Jackson. Foul goals Eastbrook: 2-2; Karns City 5-11.

St. Mary's Trim Merchants 24-15

Saints Go To Grove City And Down Merchants In Fast Battle 24-15

The St. Mary's varsity basketball team went to Grove City last night and downed the strong Merchants team 24 to 15 in a fast and interesting battle in which Kulich and Gennock shared honors with four field goals apiece. The Saints led during the entire game.

At the end of the first half the score favored the locals 8-4. With Kulich and Gennock caging the ball effectively for the Saints, the Saints guards Uhle and Jones kept their men in check and this is one of the the big reasons for the local victory. The entire St. Mary's team played a fine brand of basketball.

Play Butler Friday

The next game for the Saints will be on Friday at their own floor when the Butler Central Parking team will be the opponents. The Butler quintet is a fast one. They have defeated several of the best teams in this district. Coach Fraser will have his strongest lineup available for the battle.

There will be a preliminary game with the St. Mary's girls playing some strong team.

The summary:

St. Mary's 24		Grove City 15
Kulich	F	Hall
Gennock	F	Montgomery
Alexander	C	Kelly
Uhle	G	Briggs
Jones	G	Falls

Subs—Mancine, Volesko, McNeish, Forker, Nigri. Field goals—Kulich 4, Alexander 2, Jones, Montgomery 2, Kelly 3, Falls, Gennock 4. Fouls Saints 2 out of 6, Grove City 3 out of 9. Referee—Allen.

Jacobs Will Ask Kearns To Sign For Miami Bout

Kearns Sends Saucy Telegram To Manager Of Max Schmeling

GARDEN SCORED BY TELEGRAM

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, and promoter J. J. Johnston of Madison Square Garden, both anxious for a speedy signing of contracts for a bout between Schmeling and Mickey Walker at Miami late in February, received a further jolt today. It came in the form of an incoherent telegram to Johnston from Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, and read as follows:

"What's the idea of Jacobs forcing Walker who punched the ears off Jack Sharkey who Schmeling won his title from while lying on the floor and hollering louder than Sharkey ever hollered. Walker will fight Schmeling and knock him out but Walker will not be forced into the match just to please officials of Madison Square Garden and help Jacobs out of a bad predicament so his fighter can be continued as champion by the National Boxing Association. Chicago and California are hot after the match and we are sure to draw half a million dollars either place."

Jacobs replied he would give the match to Dempsey or Sharkey unless Kearns signs on the dotted line immediately following his arrival here from Chicago this week. Kearns was due in New York Tuesday but failed to show up.

General Store

Years ago buyers found everything from nails to wearing apparel under the roof of one general store. In this day of specialization the buyer must spend a great deal of valuable time in going from store to store in search of these things he needs.

Classified Ads, like the general store of old, are selling everything under the sun. A few minutes spent in reading the Classified Ads will save you hours of time and many dollars.

IS HARD LUCK CHAMPION.

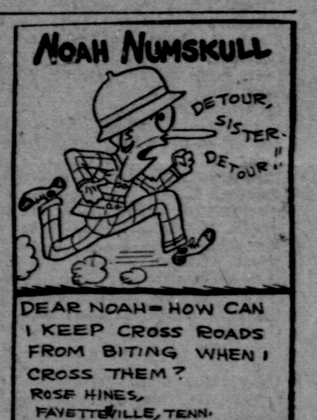
(International News Service)

LA SALLE, Ill.—Michael Whalen, La Salle man, comes close to winning the toga for being the champion "hard luck" person of the universe. Some time ago Whalen was injured in an accident and it was found necessary to amputate a portion of his right leg. Then, just a few weeks ago, Whalen was in an automobile accident and was confined to a bed with a broken leg. It was the same one that had been injured before—this time the fracture being between the hip and knee. To "cap the climax" the hard luck victim fell from his bed in the hospital and in some unaccountable manner broke his other leg.

A GOOD HUSBAND WANTED

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa.—Miss Mary H. Clowes, pretty 21-year-old New Eagle girl, has a dozen proposals of marriage under consideration. The propositions were in response to her announcement that she would wed "any respectable white man" who would provide her with $10,000 for the support of her parents in a comfortable old age. She wants personal interviews before making a decision.



The mystery about some mystery stories is why they are ever published.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Favored Industrial Stock Prices Higher

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Under the lead of the favored industrials stocks and public utilities, stocks reached into a slightly higher level of prices this morning. The market as a whole was extremely dull and featureless, and the same was true of the listed bond market and the principal commodity markets.

An unexpected upturn in Steel Mills operations, with an advance of $2 a ton in prices of bars, shapes and plates at Chicago, stimulated a better buying demand for the Steel and manufacturing stocks. United States Steel carried its new rally about a point higher, and Bethlehem was firm at fractionally higher prices a further gain in Steel Mills output after the turn of the year was predicted by Iron Age.

Most of the public utility stocks reached slightly higher prices in the early trading. The Oils were unable to reflect the drop in Crude Oil production caused by the Texas Sunday closing regulation. Coppers were also reactionary with Anaconda down fractionally to 9⅛. General Electric and Westinghouse moved up fractionally on narrow trading.

With the end of the year drawing nearer, today is the last session in which tax losses can be recorded in the sale of stocks in "the regular way." Tomorrow's tax losses can be computed only on cash sales, a few of which have already begun to appear on the tape.

Liberty bonds held fairly steady and railroad bonds were irregular in the early trading. Cotton fell off 4 to 7 points. Japanese Yen declined 75 points to 36 cents. Call money was unchanged at 3 per cent.

SALMON CLIMB LADDER TO SPAWN

EUREKA, Cal., Dec. 30.—Thousands of salmon in the Eel river, making their annual trip upstream to spawn, were threatened with death in an unusual manner.

A new dam on the south fork of the river made it impossible for them to continue upstream. Employes of the construction company which built the dam hurried to the spot, where they rushed building of a fish ladder, while a churning mass of the fish floundered below.

Where Heiress Escaped Death in Crash

Here is the plane in which Mrs. Felix duPont, Jr., (inset), wife of the scion of the "powder duPonts," had a narrow escape from death when she made a forced landing in the grounds of a hospital at Staten Island, New York. Mrs. duPont was on her way to Wilmington, Del., when she ran into a thick fog over New York harbor. Making an emergency landing, the plane crashed into a tree, suffering considerable damage, as shown. The heiress to fifty millions escaped with a few bruises and cuts.

Carideo in Benedict Role

Tomb Shows How One Mayor Ruled 2,500 Years Ago

His Actions Recorded On Front Of Tomb Where Buried

(International News Service)

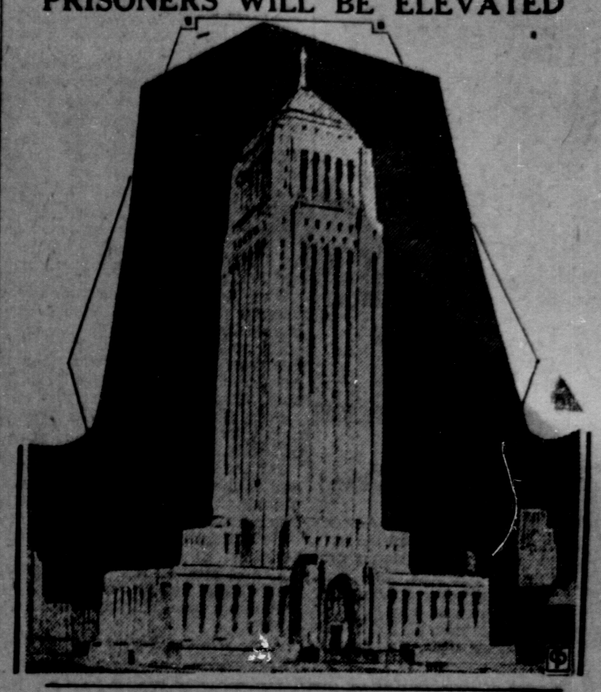
ROME, Dec. 30.—Modern politicians need not envy their prototypes of 2500 years ago. At least this is the opinion of Doctor Colella, superintendent of antiques in Cortinio. He has just examined one of a group of tombs in an ancient necropolis, which a local farmer, Mario De Markis, accidentally discovered while ploughing his fields.

"The tomb contains the remains of a man called Quinto Avello Prisco, who died two and a half centuries back," the doctor explained. "He was the equivalent to mayor for five years. He gave his fellow citizens several gladiatorial games in the circus; gave free theatrical performances in a theater he built and endowed; gave a sports competition every year in honor of the goddess Vetidine; helped the jobless with doles and free bread, and paid the city's taxes to the Republican government.

This, Doctor Colella added, was expected of him as a politician and the townsfolk thought they had done all needed of them when they recorded these actions on the front of the tomb where he lay buried till Farmer De Markis' plough dug it up.

Doctor Colella has notified the Italian government of the find, and the superintendence of antiquities is sending Prof. Mancini here to investigate. Meanwhile, in accordance with Italian law, the farmers must leave off cultivating the fields where the tombs have been found. Government will decide how much he may eventually plough and how much he must sell as a national monument.

PRISONERS WILL BE ELEVATED



Kansas City, Mo., is to have the unique distinction of elevating its criminals to the highest possible level—40 floors above the street! A $4,000,000 bond issue has provided for the erection of a combination county and jail building on the top floor of which will be housed some 500 prisoners. The new building, shown in diagram above, will occupy a square block in the central part of the city.

Wets Aroused By Ruling In House From Democrats

Prohibition Test Will Be Made On One Vote Only, Says Rep. Rainey

MAY FORCE VOTE USING PETITION

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Aroused by decision of the Democratic leadership to limit the forthcoming prohibition test to one vote, thus in all probability preventing action on a beer bill, house wets today voiced demands for a vote on both beer and resubmission of the 18th amendment.

Statement of Rep. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader, that the showdown would be limited to one of the two major prohibition issues proved a heavy blow to the wets.

May Force Vote.

After a fight lasting for years, the wets finally won the chance to place members of the house on record on prohibition through adoption of liberalized rules.

Under the rules, 145 members may force a vote on the question of calling a bill from the committee.

The wets, already organizing, plan to bring to the house floor a resubmission of the 18th amendment in the form of a referendum, and also a 2.75 per cent beer bill.

The rules provide that a bill, or related bill, may be brought before the house but once under the liberalized rules. Rainey holds that this means but one prohibition vote.

He believes the test should come on resubmission.

"That is contrary to our understanding when the rules were liberalized," said Rep. Schneider (R) of Wisconsin. "We understood that one vote could be had on resubmission and one on modification.

Dissension Looms.

"If the Democratic leadership attempts to prevent a vote on modification of the Volstead act by this congress they will face internal dissension," said Schneider.

Rep. Dyer (R) of Missouri, ranking Republican on the judiciary committee, also construed the rules to mean that a vote could be had on resubmission and also on beer.

Rainey said the house judiciary committee would not report on the scores of liquor bills before it, thus forcing the wets to use the petition method.

Rare Specimens Of Bird Life Are Given Harvard

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 30.—What is regarded as the finest private collection of North American birds, nests and eggs has been given to the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University by John Eliot Thayer of Lancaster, owner and collector and graduate of the class of 1885.

The collection, numbering about 30,000 skins and many thousands of sets of nests and eggs, includes almost all of the rarest North American birds and their eggs.

Thayer has conducted many carefully planned expeditions into Alaska, Northeastern Siberia, the Queen Charlotte Island, Lower California and Northern Mexico in securing these rare specimens.

The bird skins in the collection are beautifully prepared by the most expert taxidermists. One of the remarkable examples is an adult male Labrador duck, a species extinct for 60 to 75 years.

The collection recalls the fact that the United States once had parrots living within its borders with four specimens of the excessively rare western race of the Carolina parakeet and a species of parrot, from Oklahoma, among the collection.

The extinct Eskimo curlew, or "dough bird," and specimens of the passenger pigeon, the bird which once darkened the western plains, extinct now for thirty years, and other specimens.

There is a series of the imperial woodpecker from the highlands of Northern Mexico, and examples of the now rare ivory-billed woodpecker, together with a section of the cypress log in which is the nesting cavity with the set of eggs found there.

The collection of eggs contains ten eggs of the great auk, extinct since 1845. Harvard now has a total of eleven, or about one-sixth of all known auk eggs in the world. There are also several California condor eggs.

The first two sets of the eggs of the spoonbilled sandpiper ever found are in the collection along with a set of "knot's" eggs taken by Admiral Peary on his last trip to the Arctic.

FASHION SNAPSHOTS OF PARIS TOWN

Hard-to-Please Panhandler Bites Hand That Feeds Him

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—Russell R. Moates appears on the surface of things to be a man who is difficult to satisfy.

First, according to the police, he begs from a man who has a tender heart and helps him out accordingly Then he robs that man, not once but twice. And all this within the space of a very few hours.

Yesterday Moates, who says he is 23, unemployed and living at the Seamen's Institute found himself before Magistrate Stern in Westside court on a charge of robbery. The complainant in the case was Frederick Bethel, a supervisor in the program department of the Columbia Broadcasting System. His story, which resulted in Moates being held in $5,000 bail for action of the grand jury, was this:

On the night of December 20 Bethel was returning to his apartment in West Forty-Sixth street when Moates approached him and asked him for the price of a 'cup of coffee." Bethel had no change with him, but told Moates to come up to his apartment and he would help him out. Moates went along, was given a dollar and departed.

An hour later Bethel's door bell rang. He answered it and found himself confronting the panhandler and two companions.

"Keep your mouth shut and get back in there" one of the trio ordered.

Bethel was tied to a chair and then the men went through his things, taking some jewelry and a quantity of clothing. Soon after the men left, Bethel worked himself free and got in touch with the police A detective went to the apartment, listened to Bethel's story and departed.

Two hours later, the door bell rang again and Bethel, thinking it was the detective again, opened the door But it was Bethel's old friend, the panhandler, accompanied this time by but one of his former companions. Bethel was again tied up and the robbers took one of Bethel's suitcases, filled it with more clothing and again departed.

Detectives found Moates in a cafeteria. In court yesterday he denied the charges against him and said he had never seen Bethel before despite the fact that police say they found Bethel's suit case in a hotel room registered in Moate's name.

Magistrate Stern held him for action in a higher court.

ALDERMAN MARSHALL IS READY TO MOVE WITH MANY RELICS

Re-elected alderman of the First ward at the last election, Alderman W. E. Marshall today prepared to move from his former public square office to new headquarters at 22 East Washington street.

To his new office today went relics that had graced his former office for many years. An An old shotgun that used to hang above his chair, a strange long-necked bird that examplified the best in taxidermy and files of old legal papers have been moved to the new office. Included in the belongings that will be moved are two huge outdoor scenes of the west, presented to Alderman Marshall by the late New Castle banker, George L. Patterson.

Man's Longevity Has Doubled In 2,000 Years

Science Helps People To Lengthen Out Life Span

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—"With the aid of science and culture modern men live twice as long as their ancestors of 2,000 years ago." This startling assertion is contained in the latest official statistics on the average life of man based on thorough scientific studies.

According to figures compiled by German statisticians, the average age of the population of civilized countries increased by 22 years, from 35 years in 1870 to 57 years in 1925.

The researchers disproved contentions so often uttered that the strain of modern life is wrecking the human organism prematurely. There certainly were no social entertainments lasting all night, no rush hours on subways or in traffic and no automobiles boring men in the good old ages. Yet scientists exploring ancient Roman graves and other relics from the last few centuries before Christ have ascertained that the overwhelming majority of people of those times died between ages of 20 and 30.

Investigations of primitive races in all parts of the world revealed that their average life is also considerably lower than that of the cultivated nations.

From a wealth of material about the death rates in all civilized countries of the world, the German statisticians figured out that the average "life expectation" in those countries during the year of 1925, for example, was 57 years. This scientific expression of "average life" means that a baby born in 1925 can expect to live about 57 years.

Most modern men and women die between 65 and 70, statistics reveal. By the high death rate for babies during the first two years of life, however, the life average is reduced to 57 years only.

The immense progress of science, especially of medicine and hygienics, it is said, is the chief cause for the sensational prolongation of human life in recent years. Diseases like cholera and leprosy which killed thousands and thousands of people in the past, car now be brought under control of physicians and cannot grow to such enormous proportions as they did centuries ago.

Assessor's Term For Four Years

Hoyland Can Recommend Assessor On First Day In Office

Councilman-elect Albert Hoyland can recommend the assessor he chooses on the same day as he takes the oath as a member of the governing body of the city should he so desire according to an act of assembly. If he does not choose to do this he can make his recommendation later for a councilmanic vote.

Hoyland, it is reported, is giving serious consideration to the post as assessor. During the board of revision meetings several months ago there apparently was a controversy between what the assessor and his assistants believed to be fair valuations and what council believed to be fair.

The qualifications for the post is that the nominee must have been a resident of the city five years prior to the election and owner of real estate at the time of the election. His term would be for four years.

The present assessor is paid $1,800 a year and no provision has been made to change the salary in the 1932 budget.

BERLIN WILL STAGE OPTIMISTS' PARTY NEW YEAR'S EVE

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 30—Germany's capital seems determined to forget all about the depression, the crisis and reparations on New Year's eve.

Three cheers for optimists and down with the crisis are the slogans under which many Berlin restaurants and cabaret palaces will invite Berliners to celebrate New Year.

"Cheaper, but much nicer," announces one of the restaurants, "will be our New Year's dinner!"

"The big concert hall "Philharmonie" announces a "Bail of Optimists", and the Zoo restaurant a "night without crisises". The prices for the ball tickets range from 75 cents to $1.50. Most of the restaurants have abolished cover charges, and the prices for dinners in fashionable hotels and other distinguished entertainment places do not exceed $6.

The "wettest" New Year celebration will probably take place in Berlin's fashionable "Lunapark" bath, which will be turned into a Parisian "Lido".

Berlin hotel and restaurant owners this time count on quantity of visitors rather than on quality and hope to make big profits.

ADVISES TO BEHAVE AND KEEP WORKING

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 30.—"Behave yourself and work," was the advice of H. S. Eddy, 88, who contents himself with turning "cartwheels', splitting wood and a few other light diversions to keep fit.

Eddy has been married 64 years and has slowed up but little as he approaches another anniversary next February 12. He recently abandoned handsprings as his favorite form of exercise.

When asked for the reason for his prolonged gymnastic ability he said, "I have behaved myself. I have never used tobacco in any form and never took a drink of liquor. I have worked hard. My advice to those who would live long and happily is to behave and work."
